In the case of creditors, regard shall be had to the value of the debts due to each creditor, and in the case of contributories to the number of votes conferred on each contributory by the regulations of the Company.

Court may have regard to wishes of creditors.

166. Where any order is made by the Court for a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, the Court may, in such order or in any subsequent order, appoint any additional Liquidator or Liquidators. 167. Where an order is made for a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, the Liquidators appointed to conduct such winding-up may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Court, exercise all their powers, without the sanction or intervention of the Court, in the same manner as if the Company were being wound up altogether voluntarily. Save as aforesaid, any order made by the Court for a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, shall for all purposes, including the staying of suits and other proceedings, be deemed to be an order of the Court for winding up the Company by the Court, and shall confer full authority on the Court to make calls, or to enforce calls made by the Liquidators, and to exercise all other powers which it might have exercised if an order had been made for winding up the Company altogether by the Court. Calls on Shares.

(4.) The Directors may from time to time make such calls upon the members in respect of all monies unpaid on their shares as they think fit, provided that twenty-one days' notice at least is given of each call; and each member shall be liable to pay the amount of calls so made to the persons and at the times and places appointed by the Directors.

(5.) A call shall be deemed to have been made at the time when the Resolution of the Directors authorising such call was passed.

(6.) If the call payable in respect of any share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the holder for the time being of such share shall be liable to pay interest for the same at the rate of five per cent. per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment

(7.) The Directors may, if they think fit, receive from any member willing to advance the same all or any part of the monies due upon the shares held by him beyond the sums actually called for; and upon the monies so paid in advance, or so much thereof as from time to time exceeds the amount of the calls then made upon the shares in respect of which such advance has been made, the Company may pay interest at such rate as the member paying such sum in advance and the Directors agree upon.

Transfers of Shares.

(11.) The transfer books shall be closed during the fourteen days immediately preceding the Ordinary General Meeting in each year.

Transmission of Shares.

(12.) The executors or administrators of a deceased member shall be the only persons recognized by the Company as having any title to his share.

(13.) Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the death, bankruptcy or insolvency of any member, or in consequence of the marriage of any female member, may be registered as a member upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Company.

(14.) Any person who has become entitled to a share in consequence of the death, bankruptcy or insolvency of any member, or in consequence of the marriage of any female member, may, instead of being registered himself, elect to have some person to be named by him registered as a transferee of such share.

(15.) The person so becoming entitled shall testify such election by executing to his nominee an instrument of transfer of such share.

(16.) The instrument of transfer shall be presented to the Company, together with such evidence as the Directors may require to prove the title of the transferor, and thereupon the Company shall register the transferee as a member.

Forfeiture of Shares.

(17.) If any member fails to pay any call on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Directors may, at any time thereafter, during such time as the call remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring him to pay such call, together with interest and any expenses that may have accrued by reason of such non-payment

(18.) The notice shall name a further day on or before which such call and all interest and expenses that have accrued by reason of such non-payment are to be paid. It shall also name the place where payment is to be made, the place so named being either the registered Office of the Company or some other place at which calls of the Company are usually made payable. The notice shall also state that in the event of non-payment at or before the time and at the place appointed, the shares in respect of which such call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

(19.) If the requisitions of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any share in respect of which such notice has been given may at any time thereafter before payment of all calls, interest and expenses due in respect thereof has been made, be forfeited by a Resolution of the Directors to that effect.

(20.) Any share so forfeited shall be deemed to be the property of the Company, and may be disposed of in such manner as the Company in General Meeting thinks fit.

(21.) Any member whose shares have been forfeited shall notwithstanding be liable to pay to the Company all calls owing upon such shares at the time of the forfeiture.

(22.) A solemn declaration in writing, made before a Magistrate, that the call in respect of a share was made and notice thereof given, and that default in payment of the call was made, and that the forfeiture of the share was made by a Resolution of the Directors to that effect, shall be sufficient evidence of the facts therein stated, as against all persons entitled to such share, and such declaration and the receipt of the Company for the price of such share shall constitute a good title to such share, and a certificate of proprietorship shall be delivered to a purchaser, and thereupon he shall be deemed the holder of such share discharged from all calls due prior to such purchase, and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase-money, nor shall his title to such share be affected by any irregularity in the proceedings in reference to such sale.

Conversion of Shares into Stock.

(23.) The Directors may, with the sanction of the Company previously given in General Meeting, convert any paid-up shares into stock.

(24.) When any shares have been converted into stock, the several holders of such stock may thenceforth transfer their respective interests therein or any part of such interests, in the same manner and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any shares in the capital of the Company may be transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

(25.) The several holders of stock shall be entitled to participate in the dividends and profits of the Company according to the amount of their respective interests in such stock, and such interests shall, in proportion to the amount thereof, confer on the holders thereof respectively, the same privileges and advantages for the purpose of voting at meetings of the Company and for other purposes, as would have been conferred by shares of equal amount in the capital of the Company; but so that none of such privileges or advantages, except the participation in the dividends and profits of the Company, shall be conferred by any such aliquot part of consolidated stock as would not, if existing in shares, have conferred such privileges or advantages.

Increase in Capital.

(26.) The Directors may, with the sanction of a Special Resolution of the Company previously given in General Meeting, increase its capital by the issue of new shares, such aggregate increase to be of such amount, and to be divided into shares of such respective amounts, as the Company in General Meeting directs, or, if no direction is given, as the Directors think expedient.

(27.) Subject to any direction to the contrary that may be given by the meeting that sanctions the increase of capital, all new shares shall be offered to the members in proportion to the existing shares held by them, and such offer shall be made by notice specifying the number of shares to which the member is entitled, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined; and after the expiration of such time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the member to whom such notice is given that he declines to accept the shares offered, the Directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the Company.

(28.) Any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered as part of the original capital, and shall be subject to the same provisions with reference to the payment of calls, and the forfeiture of shares on non-payment of calls, or otherwise, as if it had been part of the original capital.

General Meetings.

(29.) The first General Meeting shall be held at such time, not being more than six months after the registration of the Company, and at such place, as the Directors may determine.

(30.) Subsequent General Meetings shall be held at such time and place as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting; and if no other time or place is prescribed, a General Meeting shall be held on the first Monday in February in every year, at such place as may be determined by the Directors.

(31.) The above-mentioned General Meetings shall be called Ordinary Meetings; all other General Meetings shall be called Extraordinary.

(32.) The Directors may, whenever they think fit, and they shall upon a requisition made in writing by not less than one-fifth in number of the members of the Company, convene an Extraordinary General Meeting.

(33.) Any requisition made by the members shall express the object of the meeting proposed to be called, and shall be left at the registered Office of the Company.

(34.) Upon the receipt of such requisition the Directors shall forthwith proceed to convene an Extraordinary General Meeting. If they do not proceed to convene the same within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition, the requisitionists or any other members amounting to the required number, may themselves convene an Extraordinary General Meeting.

Proceedings at General Meetings.

(35.) Seven days' notice at the least, specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting, and in case of special business the general nature of such business, shall be given to the members in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting; but the non-receipt of such notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any General Meeting.

(36.) All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at an Extraordinary Meeting, and all that is transacted at an Ordinary Meeting, with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, and the consideration of the accounts, balance-sheets and the ordinary report of the Directors.

(37.) No business shall be transacted at any General Meeting, except the declaration of a dividend, unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Such quorum shall be ascertained as follows: that is to say, if the persons who have taken shares in the Company at the time of the meeting do not exceed ten in number, the quorum shall be five; if they exceed ten, there shall be added to the above quorum one for every five additional members up to fifty, and one for every ten additional members after fifty, with this limitation, that no quorum shall in any case exceed twenty.

(38.) If within one hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present, it shall be adjourned sine die.

(39.) The Chairman (if any) of the Board of Directors shall preside as Chairman at every General Meeting of the Company.

(40.) If there is no such Chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be Chairman.

(41.) The Chairman may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn any meeting from time to time and from place to place; but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place.

(42.) At any General Meeting, unless a poll is demanded by at least five members, a declaration by the Chairman that a Resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the Company, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such Resolution.

(43.) If a poll is demanded by five or more members, it shall be taken in such manner as the Chairman directs, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the Resolution of the Company in General Meeting. In the case of an equality of votes at any General Meeting, the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

Votes of Members.

(44.) Every member shall have one vote for every share up to ten. He shall have an additional vote for every five shares beyond the first ten shares up to one hundred, and an additional vote for every ten shares beyond the first hundred shares.

(45.) If any member is a lunatic or idiot, he may vote by his Committee or other legal Curator; and if any member is a minor, he may vote by his guardian or any one of his guardians if more than one.

(46.) If one or more persons are jointly entitled to a share or shares, the member whose name stands first in the Register of Members as one of the holders of such share or shares, and no other, shall be entitled to vote in respect of the same.

(47.) No member shall be entitled to vote at any General Meeting unless all calls due from him have been paid, and no member shall be entitled to vote in respect of any share that he has acquired by transfer, at any meeting held after the expiration of three months from the registration of the Company, unless he has been possessed of the share in respect of which he claims to vote for at least three months previously to the time of holding the meeting at which he proposes to vote.

(48.) Votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

(49.) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing, under the hand of the appointer, or if such appointer is a corporation, under their common seal, and shall be attested by one or more witness or witnesses. No person shall be appointed a proxy who is not a member of the Company.

(50.) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the registered Office of the Company not less than seventy-two hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in such instrument proposes to vote; but no instrument appointing a proxy shall be valid after the expiration of twelve months from the date of its execution.

Company Limited.

I of being a member of the Company Limited, and entitled to vote or votes, hereby appoint of as my proxy, to vote for me and on my behalf at the (Ordinary or Extraordinary, as the case may be) General Meeting of the Company to be held on the day of , and at any adjournment thereof (or, at any meeting of the Company that may be held in the year) As witness my hand, this day of

Signed by the said in the presence of Directors.

(52.) The number of the Directors, and the names of the first Directors, shall be determined by the subscribers of the memorandum of association.

(53.) Until Directors are appointed, the subscribers of the memorandum of association shall be deemed to be Directors.

(54.) The future remuneration of the Directors, and their remuneration for services performed previously to the first General Meeting, shall be determined by the Company in General Meeting.

Powers of Directors.

(55.) The business of the Company shall be managed by the Directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in getting up and registering the Company, and may exercise all such powers of the Company as are not by the foregoing Act, or by these Articles required to be exercised by the Company in General Meeting, subject nevertheless to any regulations of these Articles, to the provisions of the foregoing Act, and to such regulations, being not inconsistent with the aforesaid regulations or provisions, as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting; but no regulation made by the Company in General Meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the Directors which would have been valid if such regulation had not been made.

(56.) The continuing Directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body.

Disqualification of Directors.

(57.) The office of Director shall be vacated—

If he holds any other office or place of profit under the Company;

If he becomes bankrupt or insolvent;

If he is concerned in or participates in the profits of any contract with the Company;

But the above rules shall be subject to the following exceptions: That no Director shall vacate his office by reason of his being a member of any Company which has entered into contracts with or done any work for the Company of which he is Director; nevertheless he shall not vote in respect of such contract or work; and if he does so vote his vote shall not be counted.

Rotation of Directors.

(58.) At the first Ordinary Meeting after the registration of the Company, the whole of the Directors shall retire from office; and at the first Ordinary Meeting in every subsequent year, one-third of the Directors for the time being, or, if their number is not a multiple of three, then the number nearest to one-third, shall retire from office.

(59.) The one-third or other nearest number to retire during the first and second years ensuing the first Ordinary Meeting of the Company shall, unless the Directors agree among themselves, be determined by ballot. In every subsequent year, the one-third or other nearest number who have been longest in office shall retire.

(60.) A retiring Director shall be re-eligible.

(61.) The Company at the General Meeting at which any Directors retire in manner aforesaid shall fill up the vacated offices by electing a like number of persons.

(62.) If at any meeting at which an election of Directors ought to take place the places of the vacating Directors are not filled up, the meeting shall stand adjourned till the same day in the next week, at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting the places of the vacating Directors are not filled up, the vacating Directors, or such of them as have not had their places filled up, shall continue in office until the Ordinary Meeting in the next year, and so on from time to time until their places are filled up.

(63.) The Company may from time to time, in General Meeting, increase or reduce the number of Directors, and may also determine in what rotation such increased or reduced number is to go out of office.

(64.) Any casual vacancy occurring in the Board of Directors may be filled up by the Directors, but any person so chosen shall retain his office so long only as the vacating Director would have retained the same if no vacancy had occurred.

(65.) The Company in General Meeting may, by a Special Resolution, remove any Director before the expiration of his period of office, and may by an Ordinary Resolution appoint another person in his stead. The person so appointed shall hold office during such time only as the Director in whose place he is appointed would have held the same if he had not been removed.

Proceedings of Directors.

(66.) The Directors may meet together for the despatch of business adjourn and otherwise regulate their meetings as they think fit, and determine the quorum necessary for the transaction of business. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes, the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A Director may at any time summon a meeting of the Directors.

(67.) The Directors may elect a Chairman of their meetings, and determine the period for which he is to hold office; but if no such Chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the Chairman is not present at the time appointed for holding the same, the Directors present shall choose some one of their number to be Chairman of such meeting.

(68.) The Directors may delegate any of their powers to Committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit. Any Committee so formed shall, in the exercise of the powers so delegated, conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Directors.

(69.) A Committee may elect a Chairman of its meetings. If no such Chairman is elected, or if he is not present at the time appointed for holding the same, the members present shall choose one of their number to be Chairman of such meeting.

(70.) A Committee may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. Questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present; and in case of an equality of votes the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

(71.) All acts done by any meeting of the Directors, or of a Committee of Directors, or by any person acting as a Director, shall, notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such Directors or persons acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a Director.

Dividends.

(72.) The Directors may, with the sanction of the Company in General Meeting, declare a dividend to be paid to the members in proportion to their shares.

(73.) No dividend shall be payable except out of the profits arising from the business of the Company.

(74.) The Directors may, before recommending any dividend, set aside out of the profits of the Company such sum as they think proper as a reserved fund to meet contingencies, or for equalizing dividends, or for repairing or maintaining the works connected with the business of the Company or any part thereof; and the Directors may invest the sum so set apart as a reserved fund upon such securities as they may select.

(75.) The Directors may deduct from the dividends payable to any member all such sums of money as may be due from him to the Company on account of calls or otherwise.

(76.) Notice of any dividend that may have been declared shall be given to each member in manner hereinafter mentioned; and all dividends unclaimed for three years after having been declared, may be forfeited by the Directors for the benefit of the Company.

(77.) No dividend shall bear interest as against the Company.

Accounts.

(78.) The Directors shall cause true accounts to be kept,

Of the stock in trade of the Company;

Of the sums of money received and expended by the Company, and the matters in respect of which such receipt and expenditure take place; and

Of the credits and liabilities of the Company.

The books of account shall be kept at the registered Office of the Company, and subject to any reasonable restrictions as to the time and manner of inspecting the same that may be imposed by the Company in General Meeting, shall be open to the inspection of the members during the hours of business.

(79.) Once at the least in every year the Directors shall lay before the Company in General Meeting a statement of the income and expenditure for the past year, made up to a date not more than three months before such meeting.

(80.) The statement so made shall show, arranged under the most convenient heads, the amount of gross income, distinguishing the several sources from which it has been derived, and the amount of gross expenditure, distinguishing the expense of the establishment, salaries and other like matters. Every item of expenditure fairly chargeable against the year's income shall be brought into account, so that a just balance of profit and loss may be laid before the meeting; and in cases where any item of expenditure which may in fairness be distributed over several years has been incurred in any one year, the whole amount of such item shall be stated, with the addition of the reasons why only a portion of such expenditure is charged against the income of the year.

(81.) A balance-sheet shall be made out in every year and laid before the Company in General Meeting, and such balance-sheet shall contain a summary of the property and liabilities of the Company arranged under the heads appearing in the form annexed to this Table, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

(82.) A printed copy of such balance-sheet shall, seven days previously to such meeting, be served on every member in the manner in which notices are hereinafter directed to be served.

Audit.

(83.) Once at the least in every year the accounts of the Company shall be examined, and the correctness of the balance-sheet ascertained by one or more auditor or auditors.

(84.) The first auditors shall be appointed by the Directors; subsequent auditors shall be appointed by the Company in General Meeting.

(85.) If one auditor only is appointed, all the provisions herein contained relating to auditors shall apply to him.

(86.) The auditors may be members of the Company; but no person is eligible as an auditor who is interested otherwise than as a member in any transaction of the Company; and no Director or other Officer of the Company is eligible during his continuance in office.

(87.) The election of auditors shall be made by the Company at their ordinary meeting in each year.

(88.) The remuneration of the first auditors shall be fixed by the Directors; that of subsequent auditors shall be fixed by the Company in General Meeting.

(89.) Any auditor shall be re-eligible on his quitting office.

(90.) If any casual vacancy occurs in the office of any auditor appointed by the Company, the Directors shall forthwith call an Extraordinary General Meeting for the purpose of supplying the same.

(91.) If no election of auditors is made in manner aforesaid, the Local Government may, on the application of not less than five members of the Company, appoint an auditor for the current year, and fix the remuneration to be paid to him by the Company for his services.

(92.) Every auditor shall be supplied with a copy of the balance-sheet, and it shall be his duty to examine the same with the accounts and vouchers relating thereto.

(93.) Every auditor shall have a list delivered to him of all books kept by the Company, and shall at all reasonable times have access to the books and accounts of the Company. He may, at the expense of the Company, employ accountants or other persons to assist him in investigating such accounts, and he may in relation to such accounts examine the Directors or any other Officer of the Company.

(94.) The auditors shall make a report to the members upon the balance-sheet and accounts, and in every such report they shall state whether, in their opinion, the balance-sheet is a full and fair balance-sheet, containing the particulars required by these regulations, and properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs; and in case they have called for explanations or information from the Directors, whether such explanations or information have or has been given by the Directors, and whether they or it have or has been satisfactory. The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 9th March 1866, and was referred to a Select Committee, with instructions to make their report thereon in a fortnight:—

No 8 OF 1866.

A Bill to empower the Committees appointed under the Seventh Section of Act No. XX. of 1863 to raise the costs and expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, and for other purposes.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to empower the Committees appointed under the seventh Section of Act No. XX. of 1863, (to enable the Government to divest itself of the management of Religious Endowments) to raise the costs and expenses incurred in the performance of the duties imposed upon them by the said Act; and whereas it is necessary to provide for the appointment of new Members of such Committees in the place of any such Members desiring to be discharged; It is enacted as follows:—

Power to raise costs of management.

1. It shall be lawful for every such Committee from time to time to pay or cause to be paid out of income, or to raise or cause to be raised out of the capital, of the property of any religious establishment under their superintendence or management such sums of money as shall be required to defray the costs and expenses incurred from time to time in relation to or concerning such superintendence or management. Every Trustee, Manager, Superintendent and other person in whom all or any part of such property may be vested shall be bound to make such payments out of the said income, and to execute such conveyances of the said capital as may be necessary to effect the purposes of this Act; and in default of compliance with any of the provisions of this Section, he shall be liable to a fine of one hundred rupees.

Purchasers and mortgagees not bound to enquire into necessity of sale or mortgage under this Act.

2 No person taking under any sale, mortgage or other disposition purporting to be made under the powers conferred by this Act shall be bound to enquire into the necessity or expediency thereof, or to see that no more than is required is raised.

Enactment of new Section in lieu of Section 9 of Act XX of 1863

3. Section 9 of the said Act is hereby repealed, and in lieu thereof the following shall be substituted:—

"Every member of a Committee appointed aforesaid shall hold his office for life, unless he be absent from India, or desire to be discharged, or refuse or become incapable to act, or unless he shall be removed as hereinafter provided; and in every such case a vacancy, within the meaning of the tenth Section of this Act shall be considered to have occurred."

This Act to be read with Act No XX of 1863.

4 This Act shall be read with and taken as part of the said Act No XX of 1863.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill, which has been prepared at the request of the Madras Government, is to supply two defects in Act XX of 1863.

The Committees appointed in pursuance of that Act are not empowered to raise out of the property belonging to the religious establishments under their superintendence the expenses necessarily incurred in the performance of the duties imposed upon them by Section 13, although, under Section 14 they are liable to be sued for neglect of those duties. Little difficulty would of course arise if that property were always vested in the Committees; but occasionally in Bengal, and universally in Madras, it is now in the hands of the Trustees or Managers of the several Mosques and Temples superintended by the Committees.

Act No. XX of 1863, moreover, makes no provision for the appointment of a new Committeeman in the place of any member of a Committee wishing to resign.

The present Bill empowers Committees to raise the amount required by sale or mortgage of the funds in their hands or in the possession of religious establishments, subject to their superintendence, compels the Trustees and Managers of those establishments, if necessary, to join in the disposition, and relieves purchasers and mortgagees from the necessity of enquiring into the propriety of the transaction. It further authorizes the appointment of a new Committee-man, not only in the case above-mentioned, but also in that of a member leaving India.

WHITLEY STOKES,

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 9th March 1866 and was referred to a Select Committee, with instructions to make their report thereon in a fortnight:—

No. 9 OF 1866.

A Bill to relieve the Governor General of India in Council from the duty of signing the Commissions mentioned in Sections 22 and 44 of the High Court's Criminal Procedure Amendment Act, 1865.

WHEREAS it is expedient to relieve the Governor General of India in Council from the duty of signing the Commissions respectively mentioned in Sections 22 and 44 of "The High Court's Criminal Procedure Amendment Act, 1865"; It is enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

1. A seal shall be made at the expense of the Government of India with this inscription, "The seal of the Governor General of India in Council," and shall be kept in the custody of such person as the Governor General of India in Council shall from time to time appoint in that behalf, and the Commissions respectively mentioned in Sections 22 and 44 of of "The High Court's Criminal Procedure Amendment Act, 1865, may be stamped with such seal by such person as the Governor General of India in Council shall from time to time appoint in that behalf; and when so stamped shall be equally valid and effectual as if they had been signed by the Governor General of India and the Members of His Council.

Seal to be made.

Stamping of Commissions under Act No. XIII of 1865, Sections 22 and 44.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The object of this Bill is to relieve the Governor General and the Members of his Council from the duty of signing the Judges' Commissions mentioned in Sections 22 and 44 of the High Court's Criminal Procedure Amendment Act, 1865. In the absence of such provision much inconvenience might arise, for it is impossible to say when the necessity for issuing such Commisions may arise, and the Council might then be absent from the Presidency.

The Bill provides that a proper seal shall be made, that it shall be kept and used by such persons as the Governor General in Council shall appoint, and that the Commissions stamped with it shall be as effectual as if they had been signed by the Governor General and the Members of his Council.

Letter from Government of Bombay, dated 3rd January 1866, No. 17.

Letter from Government of Madras, dated 24th February 1866, No. 511.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council considers that it will be advisable to institute a thorough revision of the existing Tariffs of valuations, and that the revision should be conducted on a plan which will admit of uniform Tariffs being retained for all India.

For this purpose His Excellency in Council is pleased to direct that a Committee should be formed at Calcutta, consisting, with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, of the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, and the Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue on the part of the Government, and a Member from each Presidency, to represent its respective interests. The Governments of Madras, Bombay, and Bengal should each nominate a Member to serve on the Committee, or to communicate with the Committee in Calcutta.

The points to which attention should be given by this Committee for revision of the Tariffs are—

1*st.*—The adjustment of a set of valuations applicable to India generally;

2*nd*—A new classification and consolidation of the enumerated articles; and

3*rd.*—The removal to the Free List of petty articles which neither yield, nor are likely to yield, any appreciable revenue.

With regard to the second point, the revised classification lately proposed by Mr Crawford, the present Collector of Customs, should be considered, and care should be taken in considering the third, that no articles are recommended for transfer to the Free List which are few in number, chiefly because they are articles of luxury, the levy of Customs on which cannot be held to be productive of any hindrance to business.

ORDER. Ordered, that the foregoing Resolution be communicated to Governments, Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, and be published in the Gazette of India.

The following Order issued by the Government of India in the Military Department is re-published for information :—

No. 294.—The 24th March 1866.—In continuation of Government General Order No 734, dated 9th September 1864, His Excellency the Governor General in Council is pleased to direct that the standard and tests for Degrees of Honor and Certificates of High Proficiency in Arabic, Sanskrit, and Persian shall be re-published; that the books hereunto below mentioned (paragraph III.) shall, until further orders, be the test books in the various languages in which examinations are held under Clause VIII. of the order above referred to; and that, with the view of removing

IV.—Examinations for Degrees of Honor and Certificates of High Proficiency, and examinations in Arabic, Sanskrit, and Persian, under Rule VIII., will take place only at the Presidency Towns. Examinations by the Higher and Lower Standards [see Rule X] and in the other languages under Rule VIII will, ordinarily, be held in the interior, as has hitherto been the practice in P. H. and Interpreters' examinations, except in cases where facilities for the purpose are not available. The examination in Bengali, Guzerathi, Mahrathi, Canarese, Tamil, Telugu, and Malayalum will be conducted in the same manner as examinations by the Higher Standard are directed to be. Examinations in Assamese, Punjabee, Pushtu, Burmese, Ooriya, and Sindhi will be conducted by Standing Committees appointed by the Governments of Madras and Bombay, and, with the sanction of the Government of India, by the Local Governments and Administrations immediately subordinate to it. All proceedings of such Committees are to be submitted through the Boards of Examiners of the respective Presidencies, who, to insure uniformity, will furnish the Committees with the necessary instructions and forms of reports, and will record the results, reporting all successful examinations to the proper department for publication in Government or Army General Orders and local Gazettes, as the case may require.

V.—An Officer may present himself for examination in any language under Rule VIII, without passing in Hindustani, either by the Lower or Higher Standard.

VI.—An Officer who has passed the Interpreter's examination in any language may present himself for examination for a Certificate of High Proficiency in that language, without passing an examination by the Higher Standard, or under Rule VIII but in no other.

For the purposes of this rule, Hindustani in the Bengal Presidency shall include Urdu and Hindee, but in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies only Urdu.

VII.—Any Officer having passed only the colloquial examination or any examination for which he has not received any Munshi allowance, will, on passing by the Lower Standard, be entitled to receive the prescribed allowance of Rupees 180, or on passing by the Higher Standard, a further allowance of the same amount—both sums may, as heretofore, be passed at a single payment to an Officer passing the Higher Standard in the first instance.

VIII.—Officers who have passed by the standards heretofore known as P. H., Staff, and Adjutant's examinations, or any examination of a lower grade than that of Interpreter, cannot present themselves for examination for a Certificate of High Proficiency in Hindustani, without having first passed by the Higher Standard; though in other respects all Officers having passed the P. H. examination in the Bengal Presidency, under the old rules, are considered in the same position as those who have passed by the Higher Standard under the new, with the exception that they cannot hold the Interpretership of a British Regiment on the full staff salary of the appointment.

IX.—The orders of the 9th September 1864 supersede all previously existing rules regarding the examination of Military Officers in the Oriental languages.

X.—In future the 1st and 2nd Standard will be known as the Lower and Higher Standard, and will be indicated in the Army List and elsewhere by the letters L. S. and H. S. respectively.

Notification.—The following notice to Mariners is published for general information :—

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Doubts having been expressed as to the accuracy of the longitudes assigned to the Andaman Islands on the existing Charts, notice is hereby given that the longitude of Chatham Island, Port Blair, has been recently determined to be 92° 49′ east of Greenwich; whereas in the Chart of the Andaman Islands, which is compiled from the Surveys of Lieutenant Blair and Captain Moorsom in 1789-90, revised by Lieutenant Heathcote in 1853, it is assumed to be 92° 56′. The whole group of Islands is probably thirteen miles west of the position that has hitherto been accepted.

The recent determination of the position of Chatham Island is deduced from 202 observations of lunar zenith distance, and 29 culminations observed by Mr. Nicolson, of the Survey Department, with an Alt-Azimuth Instrument, having a vertical circle 36 inches in diameter. They were reduced in the Office of the Great Trigonometrical Survey of India.

Report of the Cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling during the Month of December 1865.

From THOMAS ANDERSON, ESQ., M. D., Superintendent, Botanical Gardens, and in charge of Cinchona Cultivation in Bengal, to the Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 37, dated the 17th March 1866.)

I HAVE the honor to forward the Report on the cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling for the month of December 1865.

Report for the month of December 1865.

THE great cold of this month has affected all the operations of the cultivation, as well as the growth of the plants in the open air. Only 3,610 cuttings were made during the month. The plants grown under glass have yielded a considerable number of cuttings; the largest number has been obtained from C. Officinalis and its varieties. In all the plantations, except the lowest, growth has ceased, and the plants are in a state of complete rest. At the lowest plantation the plants have continued to grow during December, as the air at this plantation is moist and warm from the situation between two deep gorges in which the streams Runjo and Rungbee flow.

2. During this month a small plantation of C. Succirubra has been formed in the Teesta valley in an open sâl forest at an elevation of 1,000 feet above the sea. The temperature and amount of moisture in this sâl forest are very different from the conditions at Rungbee, and the growth of the plants in the new site will be watched with great interest. No care, of course, can be taken of them beyond surrounding the plantation with a fence and keeping the plants tolerably free from weeds. The site of the plantation was first cleared from trees and undergrowth, so that the plants are fully exposed to sun-light. Some months must elapse before any opinion can be formed of the state of the plants in this plantation. If they succeed the cultivation of C. Succirubra may afterwards be extended to the dry sâl forest of the Terai.

3. The weather, during December, has been cold, cloudy, and misty at the upper plantations; and from the 4th plantation downwards the air has been dry with a clear sky, warm sunshine, and great nocturnal radiation.

4. On the 26th one-tenth of an inch of rain fell, making the total rain-fall from the 1st January to 31st December 1865 at the 4th plantation 3,832 feet above the sea 153·18 inches.

5. At the 4th plantation the mean maximum temperature was 63·67. The mean minimum 46·87, and the mean temperature 55·27. These figures show a decrease in the temperature since last month. At the 1st plantation the highest temperature observed during the month was 61. and the lowest 35· on the morning of the 29th December.

Every order which may be made on any such petition shall operate in favour of all the creditors and all the contributories of the Company, in the same manner as if it had been made upon the joint petition of a creditor and a contributory.

111. When an order has been made for winding up a Company limited by guarantee and having a capital divided into shares, any share-capital that may not have been called up shall be deemed to be assets of the Company and to be a debt due to the Company from each member to the extent of any sums that may be unpaid on any shares held by him, and payable at such time as may be appointed by the Court.

112. The Court may, as to all matters relating to the winding-up, have regard to the wishes of the creditors or contributories as proved to it by any sufficient evidence, and may, if it thinks it expedient, direct meetings of the creditors or contributories to be summoned, held and conducted in such manner as the Court directs, for the purpose of ascertaining their wishes, and may appoint a person to act as Chairman of any such meeting, and to report the result of such meeting to the Court. In the case of creditors, regard is to be had to the value of the debts due to each creditor, and in the case of contributories, to the number of votes conferred on each contributory by the regulations of the Company.

124. The Court may order any contributory, purchaser or other person from whom money is due to the Company, to pay the same into the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras, or the Bank of Bombay, as the case may be, or any branch thereof respectively, to the account of the Official Liquidator instead of to the Official Liquidator, and such order may be enforced in the same manner as if it had directed payment to the Official Liquidator.

Forfeiture of Shares.

(17.) If any member fails to pay any call on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Directors may, at any time thereafter, during such time as the call remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring him to pay such call, together with interest and any expenses that may have accrued by reason of such non-payment.

(18.) The notice shall name a further day on or before which such call and all interest and expenses that have accrued by reason of such non-payment are to be paid. Conversion of Shares into Stock.

(23.) The Directors may, with the sanction of the Company previously given in General Meeting, convert any paid-up shares into stock.

(24.) When any shares have been converted into stock, the several holders of such stock may thenceforth transfer their respective interests therein or any part of such interests, in the same manner and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any shares in the capital of the Company may be transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

(25.) The several holders of stock shall be entitled to participate in the dividends and profits of the Company according to the amount of their respective interests in such stock, and such interests shall, in proportion to the amount thereof, confer on the holders thereof respectively, the same privileges and advantages for the purpose of voting at meetings of the Company and for other purposes, as would have been conferred by shares of equal amount in the capital of the Company; but so that none of such privileges or advantages, except the participation in the dividends and profits of the Company, shall be conferred by any such aliquot part of consolidated stock as would not, if existing in shares, have conferred such privileges or advantages.

Increase in Capital.

(26.) The Directors may, with the sanction of a Special Resolution of the Company previously given in General Meeting, increase its capital by the issue of new shares, such aggregate increase to be of such amount, and to be divided into shares of such respective amounts, as the Company in General Meeting directs, or, if no direction is given, as the Directors think expedient.

(27.) Subject to any direction to the contrary that may be given by the meeting that sanctions the increase of capital, all new shares shall be offered to the members in proportion to the existing shares held by them, and such offer shall be made by notice specifying the number of shares to which the member is entitled, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined; and after the expiration of such time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the member to whom such notice is given that he declines to accept the shares offered, the Directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the Company.

(28.) Any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered as part of the original capital, and shall be subject to the same provisions with reference to the payment of calls, and the forfeiture of shares on non-payment of calls, or otherwise, as if it had been part of the original capital.

General Meetings.

(29.) The first General Meeting shall be held at such time, not being more than six months after the registration of the Company, and at such place, as the Directors may determine.

(30.) Subsequent General Meetings shall be held at such time and place as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting; and if no other time or place is prescribed, a General Meeting shall be held on the first Monday in February in every year, at such place as may be determined by the Directors.

(33.) Any requisition made by the members shall express the object of the meeting proposed to be called, and shall be left at the registered Office of the Company.

(34.) Upon the receipt of such requisition the Directors shall forthwith proceed to convene an Extraordinary General Meeting. If they do not proceed to convene the same within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition, the requisitionists or any other members amounting to the required number, may themselves convene an Extraordinary General Meeting.

Proceedings at General Meetings.

(35.) Seven days' notice at the least, specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting, and in case of special business the general nature of such business, shall be given to the members in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting; but the non-receipt of such notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any General Meeting.

(36.) All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at an Extraordinary Meeting, and all that is transacted at an Ordinary Meeting with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, and the consideration of the accounts, balance-sheets and the ordinary report of the Directors.

(37.) No business shall be transacted at any General Meeting, except the declaration of a dividend, unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Such quorum shall be ascertained as follows: that is to say, if the persons who have taken shares in the Company at the time of the meeting do not exceed ten in number, the quorum shall be five; if they exceed ten, there shall be added to the above quorum one for every five additional members up to fifty, and one for every ten additional members after fifty, with this limitation, that no quorum shall in any case exceed twenty.

(38.) If within one hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved. (39.) The Chairman (if any) of the Board of Directors shall preside as Chairman at every General Meeting of the Company.

(40.) If there is no such Chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be Chairman.

(41.) The Chairman may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn any meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place.

(42.) At any General Meeting, unless a poll is demanded by at least five members, a declaration by the Chairman that a Resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the Company, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such Resolution.

(43.) If a poll is demanded by five or more members, it shall be taken in such manner as the Chairman directs, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the Resolution of the Company in General Meeting. In the case of an equality of votes at any General Meeting the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

Votes of Members.

(44.) Every member shall have one vote for every share up to ten. He shall have an additional vote for every five shares beyond the first ten shares up to one hundred, and an additional vote for every ten shares beyond the first hundred shares.

(45.) If any member is a lunatic or idiot, he may vote by his Committee or other legal Curator; and if any member is a minor, he may vote by his guardian or any one of his guardians if more than one.

(46.) If one or more persons are jointly entitled to a share or shares, the member whose name stands first in the Register of Members as one of the holders of such share or shares, and no other, shall be entitled to vote in respect of the same.

(47.) No member shall be entitled to vote at any General Meeting unless all calls due from him have been paid, and no member shall be entitled to vote in respect of any share that he has acquired by transfer, at any meeting held after the expiration of three months from the registration of the Company, unless he has been possessed of the share in respect of which he claims to vote for at least three months previously to the time of holding the meeting at which he proposes to vote.

(48.) Votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

(49.) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing, under the hand of the appointer, or if such appointer is a corporation, under their common seal, and shall be attested by one or more witness or witnesses. No person shall be appointed a proxy who is not a member of the Company.

(50.) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the registered Office of the Company not less than seventy-two hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in such instrument proposes to vote; but no instrument appointing a proxy shall be valid after the expiration of twelve months from the date of its execution.

(61.) The Company at the General Meeting at which any Directors retire in manner aforesaid shall fill up the vacated offices by electing a like number of persons.

(62.) If at any meeting at which an election of Directors ought to take place the places of the vacating Directors are not filled up, the meeting shall stand adjourned till the same day in the next week, at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting the places of the vacating Directors are not filled up, the vacating Directors, or such of them as have not had their places filled up, shall continue in office until the Ordinary Meeting in the next year, and so on from time to time until their places are filled up.

(63.) The Company may from time to time, in General Meeting, increase or reduce the number of Directors, and may also determine in what rotation such increased or reduced number is to go out of office.

(64.) Any casual vacancy occurring in the Board of Directors may be filled up by the Directors, but any person so chosen shall retain his office so long only as the vacating Director would have retained the same if no vacancy had occurred.

(65.) The Company in General Meeting may, by a Special Resolution, remove any Director before the expiration of his period of office, and may by an Ordinary Resolution appoint another person in his stead. The person so appointed shall hold office during such time only as the Director in whose place he is appointed would have held the same if he had not been removed.

Proceedings of Directors.

(66.) The Directors may meet together for the despatch of business, adjourn and otherwise regulate their meetings as they think fit, and determine the quorum necessary for the transaction of business. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes, the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A Director may at any time summon a meeting of the Directors.

(67.) The Directors may elect a Chairman of their meetings, and determine the period for which he is to hold office; but if no such Chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the Chairman is not present at the time appointed for holding the same, the Directors present shall choose some one of their number to be Chairman of such meeting.

(68.) The Directors may delegate any of their powers to Committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit. Any Committee so formed shall, in the exercise of the powers so delegated, conform to any regulations that may be imposed on it by the Directors.

(70.) A Committee may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. Questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present; and in case of an equality of votes the Chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

(71.) All acts done by any meeting of the Directors, or of a Committee of Directors, or by any person acting as a Director, shall, notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such Directors or persons acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a Director.

Dividends.

(72.) The Directors may, with the sanction of the Company in General Meeting, declare a dividend to be paid to the members in proportion to their shares.

(73.) No dividend shall be payable except out of the profits arising from the business of the Company.

(74.) The Directors may, before recommending any dividend, set aside out of the profits of the Company such sum as they think proper as a reserved fund to meet contingencies, or for equalizing dividends, or for repairing or maintaining the works connected with the business of the Company or any part thereof; and the Directors may invest the sum so set apart as a reserved fund upon such securities as they may select.

(75.) The Directors may deduct from the dividends payable to any member all such sums of money as may be due from him to the Company on account of calls or otherwise.

(76.) Notice of any dividend that may have been declared shall be given to each member in manner hereinafter mentioned; and all dividends unclaimed for three years after having been declared, may be forfeited by the Directors for the benefit of the Company.

(77.) No dividend shall bear interest as against the Company.

Accounts.

(78.) The Directors shall cause true accounts to be kept,

The books of account shall be kept at the registered Office of the Company, and subject to any reasonable restrictions as to the time and manner of inspecting the same that may be imposed by the Company in General Meeting, shall be open to the inspection of the members during the hours of business.

(79.) Once at the least in every year the Directors shall lay before the Company in General Meeting a statement of the income and expenditure for the past year, made up to a date not more than three months before such meeting.

(80.) The statement so made shall show, arranged under the most convenient heads, the amount of gross income, distinguishing the several sources from which it has been derived, and the amount of gross expenditure, distinguishing the expense of the establishment, salaries and other like matters. Every item of expenditure fairly chargeable against the year's income shall be brought into account, so that a just balance of profit and loss may be laid before the meeting; and in cases where any item of expenditure which may in fairness be distributed over several years has been incurred in any one year, the whole amount of such item shall be stated, with the addition of the reasons why only a portion of such expenditure is charged against the income of the year.

(81.) A balance-sheet shall be made out in every year and laid before the Company in General Meeting, and such balance-sheet shall contain a summary of the property and liabilities of the Company arranged under the heads appearing in the form annexed to this Table, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

(82.) A printed copy of such balance-sheet shall, seven days previously to such meeting, be served on every member in the manner in which notices are hereinafter directed to be served.

(83.) Once at the least in every year the accounts of the Company shall be examined, and the correctness of the balance-sheet ascertained by one or more auditor or auditors.

(84.) The first auditors shall be appointed by the Directors; subsequent auditors shall be appointed by the Company in General Meeting.

(85.) If one auditor only is appointed, all the provisions herein contained relating to auditors shall apply to him.

(89.) Any auditor shall be re-eligible on his quitting office.

(90.) If any casual vacancy occurs in the office of any auditor appointed by the Company, the Directors shall forthwith call an Extraordinary General Meeting for the purpose of supplying the same.

(91.) If no election of auditors is made in manner aforesaid, the Local Government may, on the application of not less than five members of the Company, appoint an auditor for the current year, and fix the remuneration to be paid to him by the Company for his services.

(92.) Every auditor shall be supplied with a copy of the balance-sheet, and it shall be his duty to examine the same with the accounts and vouchers relating thereto.

(93.) Every auditor shall have a list delivered to him of all books kept by the Company, and shall at all reasonable times have access to the books and accounts of the Company. He may, at the expense of the Company, employ accountants or other persons to assist him in investigating such accounts, and he may in relation to such accounts examine the Directors or any other Officer of the Company.

(94.) The auditors shall make a report to the members upon the balance-sheet and accounts, and in every such report they shall state whether, in their opinion, the balance-sheet is a full and fair balance-sheet, containing the particulars required by these regulations, and properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the Company's affairs; and in case they have called for explanations or information from the Directors, whether such explanations or information have or has been given by the Directors, and whether they or it have or has been satisfactory. (97.) Any notice, if served by Post, shall be deemed to have been served at the time when the letter containing the same would be delivered in the ordinary course of the Post; and in proving such service it shall be sufficient to prove that the letter containing the notice was properly addressed and put into the Post Office.

If Magistrate certifies the non-appearance of a person pursuant to his recognizance, the sum acknowledged may be recovered as a fine.

Proceeding against sureties.

Clause 3.—Whenever it shall be shewn to the satisfaction of a Magistrate of Police, either by the production of such certificate of conviction as is mentioned in the preceding Clause or otherwise, that any such recognizance is forfeited, the Magistrate, if he think that proceedings should be had against the sureties, shall give notice to them to pay the sums which by their recognizances they have respectively acknowledged themselves to owe, or to shew cause, on a day to be named in such notice why the said sums should not be paid; and if no sufficient cause shall be shewn, the said sums shall be recoverable in the manner provided by this Act for levying fines.

XCVII. Any Magistrate in cases adjudged summarily under the provisions of Section XXVI of this Act shall cause the judgment to be drawn in the form (B) hereinafter provided, or to the like effect.

On what grounds conviction may be quashed. Form of conviction, &c.

XCVIII. No conviction, order, or judgment of any Magistrate shall be quashed for error of form or procedure, but only on the grounds of want of jurisdiction or absence of any legal evidence or error of law; and it shall not be necessary to state on the face of the conviction, order, or judgment the evidence on which it proceeds; but the depositions taken, or a copy of them, shall be returned with the conviction, order, or judgment in obedience to any writ of certiorari; and if no jurisdiction appears on the face of the conviction, order, or judgment, but the depositions taken supply that defect, the conviction, order, or judgment shall be aided by what so appears in such depositions.

Plea.

Clause 2.—The defendant in any such action may plead the general issue and give this Act and the special matter in evidence at any trial to be had thereupon; and no plaintiff shall recover in any such action if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action brought, or if a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into Court after such action brought by or on behalf of the defendant; and if a verdict shall pass for the defendant, or the plaintiff shall become non-suit, or discontinue any such action after issue joined, or if upon demurrer or otherwise, judgment shall be given against the plaintiff, the defendant shall recover his full costs as between attorney and client, and have the like remedy for the same as any defendant hath by law in other cases; and though a verdict shall be given for the plaintiff in any such action, such plaintiff shall not have costs against the defendant, unless the Judge before whom the trial shall be, shall certify his approbation of the action and of the verdict obtained thereupon.

HOME DEPARTMENT.

No. 2713.

Fort William, the 21st March 1866.

Notification.—The following Notification containing "sailing directions for entering the Bassein River" is re-published for general information:—

Marine Notification.

The Flag Staff formerly at Dalhousie (which place has been entirely given up as a Pilot Station) has been erected on the S. E. point of Haingyee, or Negrais Island, and the following revised directions for entering the Bassein River are consequently published.

Sailing directions for entering the Bassein River:

I. Strangers should not attempt the passage to the westward of Negrais Island.

II. Vessels coming from the southward should bring Diamond Island to bear N. W., then steer for it until the Fair Way Buoy, which is situated 1½ miles N. E. of the Island, is visible: when near the Fairway Buoy bring the Flag Staff on the S. E. point of Haingyee, on or a little shut in with the north-east point of that Island, which will place a ship nearly in mid channel, she should then steer up the channel keeping these marks on till Pagoda Point bears west (true), when she must haul more to the eastward, passing the Flag Staff point about half a mile distant in about from 8 to 10 fathoms, when abreast of the Flag Staff a vessel should not haul more to the northward, or bring the Flag Staff point to bear to the southward of S. W. ½ W. (true) until she has made rather better than half the distance between the Flag Staff point and the north point of Haingyee; this is necessary to avoid a ridge of rocks visible at low water spring-tide that run out from the Island and extend somewhat beyond a line drawn from point to point of the Island. She may then haul in gradually and anchor in under the high land with the north point of the Island, bearing about N. W. by N. in 5 or 6 fathoms mud, where, in the S. W. Monsoons, smoother water will be found than higher up off Dalhousie.

It is here remarked that the centre of Diamond Island kept on the line of bearing S. 29 W. or S. W. by S. ½ S. nearly will carry a vessel up nearly as far as Dalhousie point clear of all dangers. Commanders of vessels are also informed of the necessity of paying careful attention to the set of the tides between Diamond Island and Orestes shoal; they run nearly east and west, and do not take the course of the river until they reach above the Black Buoy.

III. Vessels entering from the westward in latitude north of Diamond Island should bring it to bear S. E. steer in for it until the Fairway Buoy is made, then proceed as above directed for vessels entering from the southward. This passage, however, should be attempted by sailing vessels only in the N. E. Monsoon.

IV. Vessels unable from stress of weather to distinguish the different works should anchor under Diamond Island, where good anchorage and smooth water is to be found.

The best and safest anchorage during the S. W. Moonson is with the north end of the Island, bearing W. ½ N. and distant one mile.

V. Pilots are usually to be had at or near Diamond Island. Should a Pilot be on shore there when a vessel is seen approaching, a Pilot Jack will be hoisted at the mast head of the Flag staff erected on the Island. But vessels not finding one, and being provided with Lieutenant Ward's Chart, need have no hesitation in coming in as far as the north end of Haingyee. Should a Pilot be at Haingyee, the Pilot Jack will be hoisted at the Flag Staff erected on that Island.

VI. Buoys.

A first class Red Buoy marks the extreme south end of Orestes shoal.

A first class Red Buoy marks the eastern limit of the Orestes shoal.

A first class Black Buoy marks the extreme edge of the shoal extending from Porian shore.

A first class Red Bouy marked E. W. in white letters is placed 1½ miles north-east of Diamond Island.

A small Red Buoy marks the extreme northern limit of the shoal extending off the north east end of Haingyee.

VII. The shoal extending south of Haingyee is called the "Orestes" shoal, and that extending from Porian shore westward is called the Porian.

The sailing directions from Dalhousie or Negrais Island to Bassein remain unchanged.

FROM HENRY WILLIAM WICKES, ESQ.,

TO THE SECRETARY TO THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, CALCUTTA.

Dated the 3rd February 1866.

DARJEELING RAILWAY.—KOOSHTEA TO DARJEELING.

SIR,—I HAVE the honor, herewith, in confirmity with Act No. XXII. of 1863, to submit this my preliminary application to the Government of Bengal for a concession to myself upon terms to be mutually agreed upon hereafter for the construction of a line of Railway, commencing at a point opposite Kooshtea on the Ganges, and terminating at the foot of the Hills below Darjeeling, passing from the former place to the West of the River Attree though the Districts of Purneah and Dinagepore, in as direct a course as practicable to the foot of the Sub-Himalayan Hills at a point near the crossing of the Mohanuddee by the new Cart Road, or thereabouts.

I have, &c.,

H. W. WICKES,
Civil Engineer.

Calcutta Municipality.

To

R. TURNBULL, ESQ.,
Secretary to the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta.

SIR,—IN conformity with Section 34, Act VI. (B. C.) of 1863, we have the honor to report, for the information of the Chairman of the Justices of the Peace, that we have gone over the accounts* and books for the year 1865, that the charges have been checked by us no less than three times, once with the cash vouchers, a second time when posted into the Ledger, and a third time with the Bank Pass Book, for all charges for 25 Rupees and upwards are paid by cheques on the Bengal Bank, into which all sums of money are paid.

* General Fund.
Lighting Rate Fund.
Water-supply Fund.
Loan Account.
Drainage Account.
Kotrung Factory.

When the Drainage Cash Accounts for 1865 was presented to us for audit there appeared a difference of ten annas between the Receipts and Disbursements. On examining the accounts we discovered that one anna had been paid more than was charged under General Contingencies and seven annas Kotrung Cattle and Carts, which reduced the difference to two annas, which was an error in carrying out the monthly total under Drainage Soorkey Account, as the Receipts on account of soorkey exceeded the Disbursements, the difference was thus explained.

We have examined the Statement received from the Bank of Bengal of the Government Promissory Notes lodged with the Bank and found the same correct.

We have, &c.,

Report of the Agricultural Exhibition held at Comillah in February last.

From W. GORDON YOUNG, Esq., Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 688, dated the 14th March 1866.)

I HAVE the honor to submit, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor, the accompanying copy of a report from the Committee on the Agicultural Exhibition held at Comillah on the 5th, 6th, and 7th of February last, together with the papers noted on the margin.

Copy of subscription list.
Copy of sketch of receipts and disbursements.

2. The Chittagong Exhibition Report will follow shortly.

Report of the Committee for the Agricultural Exhibition of 1865 at Comillah.

NOT many months since the Local Government authorised the Collector of Tipperah to hold an exhibition of the agricultural produce and manufactures of that District at Comillah, on the understanding, however, that the exhibition should be a self-supporting one.

Accordingly, Mr. Alexander, Collector of the district, convened a meeting at Comillah on the 29th November 1865, with a view to carrying out that object.

The meeting was a large one, and the agricultural interest of the district was well represented.

The ends of the exhibition having been explained at length, subscriptions were solicited, and Rupees 3,424 were freely offered. We may here observe that between this time and the opening of the exhibition, some ten weeks later, a further sum of Rupees 1,063-8 was contributed towards the fund, whereof Rupees 187-8 were subscribed at the Sub-Division of Brahmunbareah—an instance of liberality in our opinion highly creditable to the district at large, and more especially looking to the depression in agricultural affairs under which the country has been lately labouring. A noteworthy circumstance connected with these subscriptions is that they do not at all come from the class best able to afford them, we find the vakeel, teacher, and mookhtar side by side with the zemindar. On the 30th November the Committee allocated a sum of Rupees 2,486 for prizes to be distributed as per prize list drawn up on that day, and also directed the Secretary to send copies of the prize list and rules to all the principal landholders of the district.

Subscription list annexed.

Copy annexed.

With a view to further publicity copies were also to be affixed throughout the several police stations. On the same day it was determined that the exhibition should be held on the 5th, 6th, and 7th of February 1866. On the 7th December Sub-Committees were appointed to adjudge the prizes in the several departments. A week later it was resolved that the exhibition buildings should consist of three bamboo sheds, one hundred yards long by six yards wide, to hold live-stock, two other of the same width running at right angles to this, each thirty yards in length, to contain the vegetable and manufactured produce of the district, the walls up to the roof to be ten-and-a-half feet high, the whole to be surrounded by a railing inclosing an area of some 22,500 square yards.

A large field sheltered on three sides by trees situated in the centre of the station immediately to the north of the circuit-house was selected as the most eligible site for the exhibition.

The Dewan of the Tipperah Raja, having in hand the Raja's munificient subscription of Rupees 1,000, undertook to provide all the materials for the sheds and to secure workmen for the construction thereof, and indeed it may be said that he did not shew himself indifferent to his self-imposed and laborious task.

After this nothing noteworthy occurs until we come down to the Meeting of January 27th, at which resolutions were passed to the effect that visitors to the exhibition should pay an entrance fee of one Rupee for the first day and four annas for the second, on which latter day school-boys were to be admitted free, the entrance on the third day to be open. It was also resolved, looking to the funds in hand, that it would be well to treat the people to a display of fireworks at the close of the exhibition.

Such are generally the preliminary steps taken by the Committee to bring about a successful exhibition.

As the day of opening approached, the Committee entertained a well-grounded apprehension that all their efforts had been nugatory, seeing that no notices of the articles intended for exhibition were being sent in. In fact, up to the last moment, with the exception of a supply of European vegetables and a few chairs, nothing was actually sent in. At the last moment, however, in came the exhibitors and the things for exhibition with a rush.

As soon as all was reduced to order, finding that the three sheds were in a measure filled, the Sub-Committees proceeded to adjudge the prizes and awarded to the most deserving objects in the several departments a sum exceeding Rupees 1,750, of this sum the Raja of Tipperah received Rupees 228, which, with characteristic liberality, he subsequently returned to the Committee. Mr. Young, Commissioner of the district, did us the honor of opening the exhibition on the evening of the 5th.

Number of visitors.

The number of visitors, so far as we can ascertain from the amount realized through admission tickets, would appear to have been—

On the first day, 141, attendance being very respectable.

On the second day, 252, independent of the school-boys.

On the third day, the entrance being open, the grounds were crowded.

As regards the generality of the visitors it would not appear that they came from any very great distance.

Number of exhibitors.

The exhibitors would not appear to have exceeded 121 in number, however, among them is included the Tipperah Raja, in whose name alone nearly all the articles from the hills, as well as from his estates on the plain, were exhibited. We are informed that the Raja does not stand alone in this respect, so that from the above numbers we cannot come to any safe or immediate conclusion in respect to this heading.

Proportion of mofussil to town exhibitors.

Out of the 121 exhibitors 12 only came from a greater distance beyond the station than one mile, and none from a greater distance than sixteen. The remarks under the preceding article must be also borne in mind here.

We now turn our attention to the things exhibited, and our opinion of them is briefly this.

Live-stock.

I. Common Cattle	... Few in number, but fair on the whole.
II. Buffaloes	... Four only exhibited; below mediocrity.
III. Elephants	.. Six exhibited, of which two, a male and female, were conspicuous for their excellence.
IV. Sheep	... One or two good sheep, the rest not much.
V. Goats	... Some very fine specimens exhibited.
VI. Poultry	.. A large, varied, and excellent collection, the best in the exhibition; might be seen with advantage in any exhibition.

Country Produce.

I. Rice	... The rice contends with the poultry for the distinction of being the best collection at the exhibition. The specimens of the many sorts of rice produced were very fine. Number of exhibitors 12; competition active.
II. Wheat	... Only two specimens produced; pronounced good.
III. Pulses	... Twenty specimens only produced, all by townspeople; fair on the whole.
IV. Tubers	... Under this heading the mankochoos and olkochoos alone deserve any particular notice, they were grown to an enormous size.
V. Fibres	Poorly represented, a few specimens of cotton only having been brought in from the mofussil.

Miscellaneous.

I. Vegetables	I. European II. American III. Native ...	A goodly collection.
II. Fruit	... On the whole good; some of the specimens grown to an extraordinary size, more especially the pumpkins.

Manufacture.	I. Oil	... Specimens of different sorts produced. Little or no competition.
	II. Butter and Ghee..	Very little competition; some of the specimens pronounced very good.
	III. Cheese	... Only three exhibitors, a strange fact in a cheese-producing district.
	IV. Goor	... Pretty fair.
	V. Cloth	... With the exception of some cloth exhibited by the jailor and some rough specimens of hill cloth, nothing noteworthy.
	Timber	... Four fine specimens of Sulpha, Teak, Jaroul, and Toon produced. A variety of blocks was also exhibited by the Tipperah Raja; blocks considered too small to admit of a judgment.

Implements and Machinery.—Under this heading a special prize was given to a carpenter, a native of the district, who displayed a large amount of ingenuity in the manufacture of toys. A very neat bullock-cart was exhibited by a European. A variety of so-called pruning knives or bills were also exhibited, but as the Committee were of opinion that they were suited for men of a martial, rather than of an agricultural, turn of mind, they were passed over without a prize, and the more especially as they appeared to be nearly all of exotic origin.

At 4 P. M. on the 7th February our Commissioner, Mr. Young, kindly distributed the prizes, and before closing the exhibition expressed his approval of the Committee's conduct, pronounced the exhibition creditable, and hoped that on the next occasion the exhibitors would come from a larger circle. The best thanks of the meeting having been conveyed to Mr. Young, the exhibition closed.

General Remarks.—It is our opinion that the exhibition has proved a successful one, but then only partially so; successful inasmuch as it was as well filled as under all the circumstances of the case we could reasonably expect; partially successful, seeing that one of its main objects, the representation of the entire district, has not been attained. If the information we have received as given above be correct, then all the exhibitors, with the exception of twelve, have come from within a circle of one mile, and none came from a greater distance from the station than sixteen miles. As observed above, those numbers must be received with some degree of caution. However, for general purposes, we may with safety assume that without a radius of sixteen miles the district was unrepresented at the late exhibition. Several causes tended to bring about this undesirable effect, among which we think the following, in the order in which they stand, were the largest in the sphere of their operation.—

I. A broadly diffused impression that exhibitions initiated and fostered by Government with a view to ascertaining whether or not the people were able to bear the burden of additional taxation.

II. An impression that rarety, rather than general utility, was to be the standard of value of the things exhibited. As an instance, abnormally formed children and cattle were brought into the exhibition.

III. An impression that the things exhibited would not be returned to the owners.

IV. A rumour that Hindoos and Mahomedans were to be made to sit down to a bara khana together. This last we are not disposed to give much weight to, but we are credibly informed that it prevented people from coming into the exhibition: the extent of its action, we are inclined to think, was very limited.

The first of these causes we leave to time and to a more enlightened and a more liberal experience.

With regard to the second and third of these causes, we did all in our power to counteract them by sending notices of the exhibition, rules and copies of the prize list throughout the district. The Collector, Mr. Alexander, informs us that in the course of his mofussil tour in January he ascertained by personal inquiries that the people of the western portion of the district had been generally informed that an exhibition was to be held in February, and we have no reason to doubt that the people of the other parts of the district were similarly informed. We are disposed, however, to think that the shortness of the notice (eight weeks) did not admit of the people realizing a correct idea of what an exhibition meant. We may here observe that had we put off the exhibition to a later period of the year, many of the things produced would not have appeared to the same advantage, and some of the things would not have appeared at all.

With regard to the fourth cause, we are convinced that it has been annihilated by the experience of the late exhibition. Taking every thing into account—the novelty of the undertaking, the notorious scarcity of the season, the absence of a Government grant, the fact of the exhibition being a district and not a divisional one, we think that the result should be on the whole a source of congratulation. And if only a section of the district has been represented this year, an index has been furnished to shew what the people of the entire district can do if they work shoulder to shoulder.

From the assurances we have received on this side and on that, we apprehend that next year we shall not have to complain that the things for exhibition came from within a narrow circle. The witnessing of an exhibition and of an impartial distribution of prizes brings home conviction to the inexperienced native more forcibly than would a million of notices.

Our finances are in a most satisfactory condition, inasmuch as after clearing off all our liabilities we have still on hand a balance of Rupees 2,005-2-0 (two thousand and five, annas two.)

Statement annexed.

Before closing this report we beg to thank Mr. Young for the active interest he has taken in our exhibition. It is our agreeable duty also to testify the courtesy, suavity, and zeal in the discharge of his duties which uniformly characterized the conduct of Mr. Alexander as Chairman of this Committee.

121. The Court may, at any time after making an order for winding up a Company, require any contributory for the time being settled on the list of contributories, trustee, receiver, banker or agent, or Officer of the Company to pay, deliver, convey, surrender or transfer forthwith, or within such time as the Court directs, to or into the hands of the Official Liquidator any sum or balance, books, papers, estate or effects which happen to be in his hands for the time being, and to which the Company is primâ facie entitled.

124. The Court may order any contributory, purchaser or other person from whom money is due to the Company, to pay the same into the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras, or the Bank of Bombay, as the case may be, or any branch thereof respectively, to the account of the Official Liquidator instead of to the Official Liquidator, and such order may be enforced in the same manner as if it had directed payment to the Official Liquidator.

Provision in case of representative contributory not paying monies ordered.

127. Any order made by the Court in pursuance of this Act upon any contributory shall, subject to the provisions herein contained for appealing against such order, be conclusive evidence that the monies, if any, thereby appearing to be due or ordered to be paid are due, and all other pertinent matters stated in such order are to be taken to be truly stated as against all persons and in all proceedings whatsoever.

The Court may require any such Officer or person to produce any documents in his custody or power relating to the Company. If any person so summoned, after being tendered a reasonable sum for his expenses, refuses to come before the Court at the time appointed, having no lawful impediment (made known to the Court at the time of its sitting and allowed by it), the Court may cause such person to be apprehended and brought before the Court for examination. Nevertheless, in cases where any person claims any lien on documents produced by him, such production shall be without prejudice to such lien, and the Court shall have jurisdiction in the winding-up to determine all questions relating to such lien.

140. Where any order or decree made by one Court is required to be enforced by another Court as hereinbefore provided, a certified copy of the order or decree so made shall be produced to the proper Officer of the Court required to enforce the same, and the production of such certified copy shall be sufficient evidence of such order or decree having been made, and thereupon such last-mentioned Court shall take such steps in the matter as may be requisite for enforcing such order or decree, in the same manner as if it were the order or decree of the Court enforcing the same.

Appeals from orders.

141 Re-hearings of and appeals from any order or decision made or given in the matter of the winding-up of a Company by the Court, may be had in the same manner and subject to the same conditions in and subject to which appeals may be had from any order or decision of the same Court in cases within its ordinary jurisdiction, subject to this restriction, that no such re-hearing or appeal shall be heard unless notice of the same is given within three weeks after any order complained of has been made, in manner in which notices of appeal are ordinarily given under the Code of Civil Procedure, unless such time is extended by the Court of Appeal.

Circumstances under which Company may be wound up voluntarily.

145. A Company under this Act may be wound up voluntarily,

(1.) Whenever the period, if any, fixed for the duration of the Company by the Articles of Association expires, or whenever the event, if any, occurs upon the occurrence of which it is provided by the Articles of Association that the Company is to be dissolved, and the Company in General Meeting has passed a Resolution requiring the Company to be wound up voluntarily.

(2.) Whenever the Company has passed a Special Resolution requiring the Company to be wound up voluntarily:

(3.) Whenever the Company has passed an Extraordinary Resolution to the effect that it has been proved to their satisfaction that the Company cannot by reason of its liabilities continue its business, and that it is advisable to wind up the same.

For the purposes of this Act any Resolution shall be deemed to be extraordinary which is passed in such manner as would if it had been confirmed by a subsequent meeting, have constituted a Special Resolution as hereinbefore defined.

Commencement of voluntary winding up.

146. A voluntary winding-up shall be deemed to commence at the time of the passing of the Resolution authorizing such winding-up.

Effect of voluntary winding-up on status of Company.

147. Whenever a Company is wound up voluntarily, the Company shall, from the date of the commencement of such winding-up, cease to carry on its business except in so far as may be required for the beneficial winding up thereof, and all transfers of shares except transfers made to or with the sanction of the Liquidators, or alteration in the status of the members of the Company taking place after the commencement of such winding-up shall be void, but its corporate state and all its corporate powers shall, notwithstanding it is otherwise provided by its regulations, continue until the affairs of the Company are wound up.

Notice of Resolution to wind up voluntarily.

148. Notice of any Special Resolution or Extraordinary Resolution passed for winding up a Company voluntarily shall be given by advertisement in the local Official Gazette and also in some newspaper (if any) circulating in the place where the registered Office of the Company is situate.

Consequences of voluntary winding-up.

149. The following consequences shall ensue upon the voluntary winding-up of a Company:—

(1.) The property of the Company shall be applied in satisfaction of its liabilities pari passu, and subject thereto shall, unless it be otherwise provided by the regulations of the Company, be distributed amongst the members according to their rights and interests in the Company:

(2.) Liquidators shall be appointed for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the Company and distributing the property:

(3.) The Company in General Meeting shall appoint such persons or person as it thinks fit to be Liquidators or a Liquidator, and may fix the remuneration to be paid to them or him:

(4.) If one person only is appointed, all the provisions herein contained in reference to several Liquidators shall apply to him:

(5.) Upon the appointment of Liquidators, all the powers of the Directors shall cease, except in so far as the Company in General Meeting or the Liquidators may sanction the continuance of such powers:

(6.) When several Liquidators are appointed, every power hereby given may be exercised by such one or more of them as may be determined at the time of their appointment, or, in default of such determination, by any number not less than two:

(7.) The Liquidators may, without the sanction of the Court, exercise all powers by this Act given to the Official Liquidators:

(8.) The Liquidators may exercise the powers hereinbefore given to the Court of settling the list of contributories of the Company, and any list so settled shall be primâ facie evidence of the liability of the persons named therein to be contributories:

(9.) The Liquidators may at any time after the passing of the Resolution for winding up the Company, and before they have ascertained the sufficiency of the assets of the Company, call on all or any of the contributories for the time being settled on the list of contributories, to the extent of their liability, to pay all or any sums they deem necessary to satisfy the debts and liabilities of the Company, and the costs, charges and expenses of winding it up, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories amongst themselves, and the Liquidators may, in making a call, take into consideration the probability that some of the contributories upon whom the same is made may partly or wholly fail to pay their respective portions of the same:

(10.) The Liquidators shall pay the debts of the Company, and adjust the rights of the contributories amongst themselves.

Effect of winding-up on share-capital of Company limited by guarantee.

150. Where a Company limited by guarantee and having a capital divided into shares is being wound up voluntarily, any share-capital that may not have been called up shall be deemed to be assets of the Company, and to be a debt due from each member to the Company to the extent of any sums that may be unpaid on any shares held by him, and payable at such time as may be appointed by the Liquidators.

Power of Company to delegate authority to appoint Liquidators.

151. A Company about to be wound up voluntarily or in the course of being wound up voluntarily may, by an Extraordinary Resolution, delegate to its creditors, or to any Committee of its creditors, the power of appointing Liquidators or any of them, and supplying any vacancies in the appointment of Liquidators, or may by a like Resolution enter into any arrangement with respect to the powers to be exercised by the Liquidators and the manner in which they are to be exercised. Any act done by the creditors in pursuance of such delegated power shall have the same effect as if it had been done by the Company.

Arrangement when binding on creditors.

152. Any arrangement which a Company about to be wound up voluntarily or in the course of being wound up voluntarily shall have entered into with its creditors, shall be binding on the Company if sanctioned by an Extraordinary Resolution, and on the creditors if acceded to by three-fourths in number and value of the creditors, subject to such right of appeal as is hereinafter mentioned.

Power of creditor or contributory to appeal.

153. Any creditor or contributory of a Company that has in manner aforesaid entered into any arrangement with its creditors may, within three weeks from the date of the completion of such arrangement, appeal to the Court against such arrangement, and the Court may thereupon, as it thinks just, amend, vary or confirm the same.

Power for Liquidators or contributories in voluntary winding-up to apply to Court.

154. Where a Company is being wound up voluntarily, the Liquidators or any contributory of the Company may apply to the Court to determine any question arising in the matter of such winding-up, or to exercise as respects the enforcing of calls or in respect of any other matter all or any of the powers which the Court might exercise if the Company were being wound up by the Court. The Court, if satisfied that the determination of such question or the required exercise of power will be just and beneficial, may accede, wholly or partially, to such application, on such terms and subject to such conditions as the Court thinks fit, or it may make such other order or decree on such application as the Court thinks just.

Power of Liquidators to call General Meeting.

155. Where a Company is being wound up voluntarily, the Liquidators may, from time to time during the continuance of such winding-up, summon General Meetings of the Company for the purpose of obtaining the sanction of the Company by Special Resolution or Extraordinary Resolution or for any other purposes they think fit. In the event of the winding-up continuing for more than one year, the Liquidators shall summon a General Meeting of the Company at the end of the first year and of each succeeding year from the commencement of the winding-up, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, and shall lay before such meeting an account showing their acts and dealings and the manner in which the winding-up has been conducted during the preceding year.

Power to fill up vacancy in office of Liquidators.

156. If any vacancy occurs in the office of Liquidators appointed by the Company, by death, resignation or otherwise, the Company in General Meeting may, subject to any arrangement they may have entered into with their creditors, fill up such vacancy, and a General Meeting for the purpose of filling up such vacancy may be convened by the continuing Liquidators, if any, or by any contributory of the Company, and shall be deemed to have been duly held if held in manner prescribed by the regulations of the Company, or in such other manner as may, on application by the continuing Liquidator, if any, or by any contributory of the Company, be determined by the Court.

157. If from any cause whatever there is no Liquidator acting in the case of a voluntary winding-up, the Court may on the application of a contributory, appoint a Liquidator or Liquidators. The Court may also, on due cause shown, remove any Liquidator, and appoint another Liquidator to act in the matter of a voluntary winding-up.

Power of Court to appoint Liquidators.

158. As soon as the affairs of the Company are fully wound up, the Liquidators shall make up an account showing the manner in which such winding-up has been conducted and the property of the Company disposed of; and thereupon they shall call a General Meeting of the Company for the purpose of having the account laid before them, and hearing any explanation that may be given by the Liquidators. The meeting shall be called by advertisement, specifying the time, place and object of such meeting, and such advertisement shall be published one month at least previously to the meeting, in the manner specified in Section 149.

Liquidators on conclusion of winding-up to make up an account.

159. The Liquidators shall make a return to the Registrar of such meeting having been held, and of the date at which the same was held, and on the expiration of three months from the date of the registration of such return, the Company shall be deemed to be dissolved. If the Liquidators make default in making such return to the Registrar, they shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which such default continues.

Liquidators to report meeting to Registrar.

160. All costs, charges and expenses properly incurred in the voluntary winding-up of a Company, including the remuneration of the Liquidators, shall be payable out of the assets of the Company in priority to all other claims.

Costs of voluntary liquidation.

161. The voluntary winding-up of a Company shall not be a bar to the right of any creditor of such Company to have the same wound up by the Court, if the Court is of opinion that the rights of such creditor will be prejudiced by a voluntary winding-up.

Saving of rights of creditors.

162. Where a Company is in course of being wound up voluntarily, and proceedings are taken for the purpose of having the same wound up by the Court, the Court may, if it thinks fit, notwithstanding that it makes an order directing the Company to be wound up by the Court, provide in such order or in any other order for the adoption of all or any of the proceedings taken in the course of the voluntary winding-up.

Power of Court to adopt proceedings of voluntary winding-up.

Winding-up subject to the Supervision of the Court.

163. When a Resolution has been passed by a Company to wind up voluntarily, the Court may make an order directing that the voluntary winding-up should continue, but subject to such supervision of the Court, and with such liberty for creditors, contributories or others to apply to the Court, and generally upon such terms and subject to such conditions, as the Court thinks just.

Power of Court, on application, to direct winding-up subject to supervision.

164. A petition praying wholly or in part that a voluntary winding-up should continue, but subject to the supervision of the Court, and which winding-up is hereinafter referred to as a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, shall, for the purpose of giving jurisdiction to the Court over suits, be deemed to be a petition for winding up the Company by the Court.

Petition for winding-up subject to supervision.

165. The Court may, in determining whether a Company is to be wound up altogether by the Court or subject to the supervision of the Court, in the appointment of a Liquidator or of Liquidators, and in all other matters relating to the winding-up subject to supervision, have regard to the wishes of the creditors or contributories as proved to it by any sufficient evidence, and may direct meetings of the creditors or contributories to be summoned, held and regulated in such manner as the Court directs for the purpose of ascertaining their wishes, and may appoint a person to act as Chairman of any such meeting, and to report the result of such meeting to the Court. In the case of creditors, regard shall be had to the value of the debts due to each creditor, and in the case of contributories to the number of votes conferred on each contributory by the regulations of the Company.

Court may have regard to wishes of creditors.

166. Where any order is made by the Court for a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, the Court may, in such order or in any subsequent order, appoint any additional Liquidator or Liquidators. Any Liquidators so appointed by the Court shall have the same powers, be subject to the same obligations, and in all respects stand in the same position as if they had been appointed by the Company. The Court may from time to time remove any Liquidators so appointed by the Court, and fill up any vacancy occasioned by such removal, or by death or resignation.

Power to Court to appoint additional Liquidators in winding-up subject to supervision.

167. Where an order is made for a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, the Liquidators appointed to conduct such winding-up may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Court, exercise all their powers, without the sanction or intervention of the Court, in the same manner as if the Company were being wound up altogether voluntarily. Save as aforesaid, any order made by the Court for a winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court, shall for all purposes, including the staying of suits and other proceedings, be deemed to be an order of the Court for winding up the Company by the Court, and shall confer full authority on the Court to make calls, or to enforce calls made by the Liquidators, and to exercise all other powers which it might have exercised if an order had been made for winding up the Company altogether by the Court. In the construction of the provisions whereby the Court is empowered to direct any act or thing to be done to or in favour of the Official Liquidators, the expression Official Liquidators shall be deemed to mean the Liquidators conducting the winding-up subject to the supervision of the Court.

Effect of order of Court for winding-up subject to supervision.

168 Where an order has been made for the winding-up of a Company subject to the supervision of the Court, and such order is afterwards superseded by an order directing the Company to be wound up compulsorily, the Court may, in such last-mentioned order or in any subsequent order, appoint the voluntary Liquidators or any of them, either provisionally or permanently, and either with or without the addition of any other persons to be Official Liquidators.

Appointment in certain cases of voluntary Liquidators to office of Official Liquidators.

Supplemental Provisions.

169. Where any Company is being wound up by the Court or subject to the supervision of the Court, all dispositions of the property, effects and things in action of the Company, and every transfer of shares or alteration in the status of the members of the Company, made between the commencement of the winding-up and the order for winding-up, shall, unless the Court otherwise orders, be void.

As to disposal of books, accounts, and documents of the Company.

171. Where any Company has been wound up under this Act and is about to be dissolved, the books, accounts and documents of the Company and of the Liquidators may be disposed of in the following way; that is to say, where the Company has been wound up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, in such way as the Court directs, and where the Company has been wound up voluntarily, in such way as the Company by an Extraordinary Resolution directs. But after the lapse of five years from the date of such dissolution, no responsibility shall rest on the Company or the Liquidators, or any one to whom the custody of such books, accounts and documents has been committed, by reason that the same or any of them cannot be made forthcoming to any party or parties claiming to be interested therein.

Inspection of books.

172. Where an order has been made for winding up a Company by the Court or subject to the supervision of the Court, the Court may make such order for the inspection by the creditors and contributories of the Company of its books and papers as the Court thinks just, and any books and papers in the possession of the Company may be inspected by creditors or contributories in conformity with the order of the Court, but not further or otherwise.

General scheme of liquidation may be sanctioned.

173. The Liquidators may, with the sanction of the Court, where the Company is being wound up by the Court or subject to the supervision of the Court, and with the sanction of an Extraordinary Resolution of the Company where the Company is being wound up altogether voluntarily, pay any classes of creditors in full, or make such compromise or other arrangement as the Liquidators may deem expedient with creditors or persons claiming to be creditors, or persons having or alleging themselves to have any claim, present or future, whereby the Company may be rendered liable.

Power to compromise.

174. The Liquidators may, with the sanction of the Court where the Company is being wound up by the Court or subject to the supervision of the Court, and with the sanction of an Extraordinary Resolution of the Company where the Company is being wound up altogether voluntarily, compromise all calls and liabilities to calls, debts and liabilities capable of resulting in debts, and all claims, whether present or future, subsisting or supposed to subsist, between the Company and any contributory or alleged contributory, or other debtor or person apprehending liability to the Company, and all questions in any way relating to or affecting the assets of the Company or the winding-up of the Company, generally upon such terms as may be agreed upon, with power for the Liquidators to take any security for the discharge of such debts or liabilities, and to give complete discharges in respect of all or any such calls, debts or liabilities.

Power for Liquidators to accept shares, &c., as a consideration for sale of property of Company.

175. Where any Company is proposed to be or is in the course of being wound up altogether voluntarily, and the whole or a portion of its business or property is proposed to be transferred or sold to another Company, the Liquidators of the first mentioned Company may, with the sanction of a Special Resolution of the Company by whom they were appointed, conferring either a general authority on the Liquidators, or an authority in respect of any particular arrangement, receive in compensation or part compensation for such transfer or sale, shares, debentures, policies or other like interests in such other Company, for the purpose of distribution amongst the members of the Company being wound up, or may enter into any other arrangement whereby the members of the Company being wound up may, in lieu of receiving cash, shares, debentures, policies or other like interests, or in addition thereto, participate in the profits of or receive any other benefit from the purchasing Company; and any sale made or arrangement entered into by the Liquidators in pursuance of this Section shall be binding on the members of the Company being wound up; subject to this proviso that, if any member of the Company being wound up, who has not voted in favour of the Special Resolution passed by the Company of which he is a member at either of the meetings held for passing the same, expresses his dissent from any such Special Resolution in writing addressed to the Liquidators or one of them, and left at the registered Office of the Company not later than seven days after the date of the meeting at which such Special Resolution was passed, such dissentient member may require the Liquidators to do one of the following things as the Liquidators may prefer; that is to say, either to abstain from carrying such Resolution into effect, or to purchase the interest held by such dissentient member at a price to be determined in manner hereinafter mentioned, such purchase-money to be paid before the Company is dissolved, and to be raised by the Liquidators in such manner as may be determined by Special Resolution. No Special Resolution shall be deemed invalid for the purposes of this Section by reason that it is passed antecedently to or concurrently with any Resolution for winding up the Company, or for appointing Liquidators; but if an order be made within a year for winding up the Company by or subject to the supervision of the Court, such Resolution shall not be of any validity unless it is sanctioned by the Court.

Mode of determining price.

176. The price to be paid for the purchase of the interest of any dissentient member may be determined by agreement. If the parties dispute about the same, such dispute shall be settled by arbitration under the provisions next hereinafter contained.

Appointment of Arbitrator when questions are to be determined by arbitration.

177. When any dispute so directed to be settled by arbitration shall have arisen, then, unless both parties shall concur in the appointment of a single Arbitrator, each party, on the request of the other party, shall by writing under his hand nominate and appoint an Arbitrator to whom such dispute shall be referred. After any such appointment shall have been made, neither party shall have power to revoke the same without the consent of the other, nor shall the death of either party operate as such revocation. If for the space of fourteen days after any such dispute shall have arisen, and after a request in writing shall have been served by the one party on the other party to appoint an Arbitrator, such last mentioned party fail to appoint such Arbitrator, then upon such failure the party making the request, and having himself appointed an Arbitrator, may appoint such Arbitrator to act on behalf of both parties, and such Arbitrator may proceed to hear and determine the matters which shall be in dispute; and in such case the award or determination of such single Arbitrator shall be final.

Vacancy of Arbitrator to be supplied.

178. TABLE A.

REGULATIONS FOR MANAGEMENT OF A COMPANY LIMITED BY SHARES.

Shares.

(1.) If several persons are registered as joint holders of any share, any one of such persons may give effectual receipts for any dividend payable in respect of such share.

(2.) Every member shall, on payment of eight annas or such less sum as the Company in General Meeting may prescribe, be entitled to a certificate, under the common seal of the Company, specifying the share or shares held by him, and the amount paid up thereon.

(3.) If such certificate is worn out or lost, it may be renewed, on payment of eight annas or such less sum as the Company in General Meeting may prescribe.

Calls on Shares.

(4.) The Directors may from time to time make such calls upon the members in respect of all monies unpaid on their shares as they think fit, provided that twenty-one days' notice at least is given of each call; and each member shall be liable to pay the amount of calls so made to the persons and at the times and places appointed by the Directors.

(5.) A call shall be deemed to have been made at the time when the Resolution of the Directors authorising such call was passed.

(6.) If the call payable in respect of any share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the holder for the time being of such share shall be liable to pay interest for the same at the rate of five per cent. per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment.

(7.) The Directors may, if they think fit, receive from any member willing to advance the same all or any part of the monies due upon the shares held by him beyond the sums actually called for; and upon the monies so paid in advance, or so much thereof as from time to time exceeds the amount of the calls then made upon the shares in respect of which such advance has been made, the Company may pay interest at such rate as the member paying such sum in advance and the Directors agree upon.

Transfers of Shares.

(8.) The instrument of transfer of any share in the Company shall be executed both by the transferor and transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain a holder of such share until the name of the transferee is entered in the Register Book in respect thereof.

(11.) The transfer books shall be closed during the fourteen days immediately preceding the Ordinary General Meeting in each year.

Transmission of Shares.

(12.) The executors or administrators of a deceased member shall be the only persons recognized by the Company as having any title to his share.

(13.) Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the death, bankruptcy or insolvency of any member, or in consequence of the marriage of any female member, may be registered as a member upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the Company.

(14.) Any person who has become entitled to a share in consequence of the death, bankruptcy or insolvency of any member, or in consequence of the marriage of any female member, may, instead of being registered himself, elect to have some person to be named by him registered as a transferee of such share.

(15.) The person so becoming entitled shall testify such election by executing to his nominee an instrument of transfer of such share.

(16.) The instrument of transfer shall be presented to the Company, together with such evidence as the Directors may require to prove the title of the transferee, and thereupon the Company shall register the transferee as a member.

Forfeiture of Shares.

(17.) If any member fails to pay any call on the day appointed for payment thereof, the Directors may, at any time thereafter, during such time as the call remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring him to pay such call, together with interest and any expenses that may have accrued by reason of such non-payment.

(18.) The notice shall name a further day on or before which such call and all interest and expenses that have accrued by reason of such non-payment are to be paid. It shall also name the place where payment is to be made, the place so named being either the registered Office of the Company or some other place at which calls of the Company are usually made payable. The notice shall also state that in the event of non-payment at or before the time and at the place appointed, the shares in respect of which such call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

(19.) If the requisitions of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any share in respect of which such notice has been given may at any time thereafter before payment of all calls, interest and expenses due in respect thereof has been made, be forfeited by a Resolution of the Directors to that effect.

(20.) Any share so forfeited shall be deemed to be the property of the Company, and may be disposed of in such manner as the Company in General Meeting thinks fit.

(21.) Any member whose shares have been forfeited shall notwithstanding be liable to pay to the Company all calls owing upon such shares at the time of the forfeiture.

(22.) A solemn declaration in writing, made before a Magistrate, that the call in respect of a share was made and notice thereof given, and that default in payment of the call was made, and that the forfeiture of the share was made by a Resolution of the Directors to that effect, shall be sufficient evidence of the facts therein stated, as against all persons entitled to such share, and such declaration and the receipt of the Company for the price of such share shall constitute a good title to such share, and a certificate of proprietorship shall be delivered to a purchaser, and thereupon he shall be deemed the holder of such share discharged from all calls due prior to such purchase, and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase-money, nor shall his title to such share be affected by any irregularity in the proceedings in reference to such sale.

Conversion of Shares into Stock.

(23.) The Directors may, with the sanction of the Company previously given in General Meeting, convert any paid-up shares into stock.

(24.) When any shares have been converted into stock, the several holders of such stock may thenceforth transfer their respective interests therein or any part of such interests, in the same manner and subject to the same regulations as and subject to which any shares in the Capital of the Company may be transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

(25.) The several holders of stock shall be entitled to participate in the dividends and profits of the Company according to the amount of their respective interests in such stock, and such interests shall, in proportion to the amount thereof, confer on the holders thereof respectively, the same privileges and advantages for the purpose of voting at meetings of the Company and for other purposes, as would have been conferred by shares of equal amount in the capital of the Company; but so that none of such privileges or advantages, except the participation in the dividends and profits of the Company, shall be conferred by any such aliquot part of consolidated stock as would not, if existing in shares, have conferred such privilege or advantage.

Increase in Capital.

(26.) The Directors may, with the sanction of a Special Resolution of the Company previously given in General Meeting, increase its capital by the issue of new shares, such aggregate increase to be of such amount, and to be divided into shares of such respective amounts, as the Company in General Meeting directs, or, if no direction is given, as the Directors think expedient.

(27.) Subject to any direction to the contrary that may be given by the meeting that sanctions the increase of capital, all new shares shall be offered to the members in proportion to the existing shares held by them, and such offer shall be made by notice specifying the number of shares to which the member is entitled, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined; and after the expiration of such time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the member to whom such notice is given that he declines to accept the shares offered, the Directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the Company.

(28.) Any capital raised by the creation of new shares shall be considered as part of the original capital, and shall be subject to the same provisions with reference to the payment of calls, and the forfeiture of shares on non-payment of calls, or otherwise, as if it had been part of the original capital.

General Meetings.

(29.) The first General Meeting shall be held at such time, not being more than six months after the registration of the Company, and at such place, as the Directors may determine.

(30.) Subsequent General Meetings shall be held at such time and place as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting; and if no other time or place is prescribed, a General Meeting shall be held on the first Monday in February in every year, at such place as may be determined by the Directors.

(31.) The above-mentioned General Meetings shall be called Ordinary Meetings; all other General Meetings shall be called Extraordinary.

(32.) The Directors may, whenever they think fit, and they shall upon a requisition made in writing by not less than one-fifth in number of the members of the Company, convene an Extraordinary General Meeting.

(33.) Any requisition made by the members shall express the object of the meeting proposed to be called, and shall be left at the registered Office of the Company.

(34.) Upon the receipt of such requisition the Directors shall forthwith proceed to convene an Extraordinary General Meeting. If they do not proceed to convene the same within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition, the requisitionists or any other members amounting to the required number, may themselves convene an Extraordinary General Meeting.

Proceedings at General Meetings.

(35.) Seven days' notice at the least, specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting, and in case of special business the general nature of such business, shall be given to the members in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed by the Company in General Meeting; but the non-receipt of such notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any General Meeting.

(36.) All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at an Extraordinary Meeting, and all that is transacted at an Ordinary Meeting, with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, and the consideration of the accounts, balance-sheets and the ordinary report of the Directors.

(37.) No business shall be transacted at any General Meeting, except the declaration of a dividend, unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business. Such quorum shall be ascertained as follows: that is to say, if the persons who have taken shares in the Company at the time of the meeting do not exceed ten in number, the quorum shall be five; if they exceed ten, there shall be added to the above quorum one for every five additional members up to fifty, and one for every ten additional members after fifty, with this limitation, that no quorum shall in any case exceed twenty.

(38.) If within one hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if convened upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved. In any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week, at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum is not present, it shall be adjourned sine die.

(39.) The Chairman (if any) of the Board of Directors shall preside as Chairman at every General Meeting of the Company.

(40.) If there is no such Chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be Chairman.

(41.) The Chairman may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn any meeting from time to time and from place to place; but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place.

(42.) At any General Meeting, unless a poll is demanded by at least five members, a declaration by the Chairman that a Resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the Company, shall be sufficient evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against such Resolution.

(43.) If a poll is demanded by five or more members, it shall be taken in such manner as the Chairman directs, and the result of such poll shall be deemed to be the Resolution of the Company in General Meeting. In the case of an equality of votes at any General Meeting the Chairman shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

Votes of Members.

(44.) Every member shall have one vote for every share up to ten. He shall have an additional vote for every five shares beyond the first ten shares up to one hundred, and an additional vote for every ten shares beyond the first hundred shares.

(45.) If any member is a lunatic or idiot, he may vote by his Committee or other legal Curator; and if any member is a minor, he may vote by his guardian or any one of his guardians if more than one.

(46.) If one or more persons are jointly entitled to a share or shares, the member whose name stands first in the Register of Members as one of the holders of such share or shares, and no other, shall be entitled to vote in respect of the same.

(47.) No member shall be entitled to vote at any General Meeting unless all calls due from him have been paid, and no member shall be entitled to vote in respect of any share that he has acquired by transfer, at any meeting held after the expiration of three months from the registration of the transfer, unless he has been possessed of the share in respect of which he claims to vote for at least three months previously to the time of holding the meeting at which he proposes to vote.

(48.) Votes may be given either personally or by proxy.

(49.) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing, under the hand of the appointer, or if such appointer is a corporation, under their common seal, and shall be attested by one or more witness or witnesses. No person shall be appointed a proxy who is not a member of the Company.

(50.) The instrument appointing a proxy shall be deposited at the registered Office of the Company not less than seventy-two hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in such instrument proposes to vote; but no instrument appointing a proxy shall be valid after the expiration of twelve months from the date of its execution.

Company Limited.

I of being a member of the Company Limited, and entitled to vote or votes, hereby appoint of as my proxy, to vote for me and on my behalf at the (Ordinary or Extraordinary, as the case may be) General Meeting of the Company to be held on the day of , and at any adjournment thereof (or, at any meeting of the Company that may be held in the year). Enquiry into the alleged bribery on the East Indian Railway.

From Captain F. S. Taylor, R. E., Joint-Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, to the Agent, East Indian Railway Company,—(No. 676G., dated the 24th March 1866.)

I am directed to forward, for your information, the report of the Committee appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor to investigate the public complaints against the Goods management of the East Indian Railway, and to call for your reply.

2. The recommendations of the members of the Committee as to the terms under which the carrying power of the Railway should be made available to the public during the present exceptional pressure have been submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor separately; and, in forwarding Mr. R. Roberts' letter No. 1359, dated 22nd March, and Lieutenant Luard's letter of the same date, for such action as you may deem advisable, I am instructed to intimate that, as a temporary measure, the arrangements for the distribution of wagons, indicated in your letter No. 1037G., of the 7th March, are approved and must be considered in force until modified with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor.

Report of the Committee appointed in accordance with letter from Government of Bengal,—(No. 248G., dated 5th February 1866.)

The Committee having closed their sittings, have now the honor to submit their report to Government. The evidence taken before them from time to time is attached. The sittings having been conducted in the most public manner possible

The Committee's instructions were that they should investigate "a complaint by a respectable European firm of gross malpractices in the Goods' Department at Hattrass Station."—(Appendix No. 1.) On enquiry the chief complaint, on the part of the European merchants, appeared to be that preference in the allotment of wagons had been shewn to the Commercial Transport Association, and to an investigation of this matter the Committee at once addressed themselves. The fact was established at Hattrass, where the first sitting was held. The letters (Appendix No. 7) and Mr. Batchelor's evidence was on this point conclusive. An order to give a slight preference to the Commercial Transport Association was issued verbally by the Agent to the Traffic Manager early in January, and strengthened by a further order in writing on the 24th of that month (Appendix No. 7) to the effect "that the Commercial Transport Association were to have as many wagons as they could load in preference to all others."

The Lieutenant-Governor has already, in general terms, expressed his opinion that the order issued was injudicious, and the order has been cancelled by the Agent.—(Appendix No. .) At the same time His Honor reserved a final opinion until the Committee should have made their report.

The Committee, therefore, while feeling that so far as the Agent is concerned it is a matter between him and the Directors of the Railway Company, think it right to call attention to that part of the evidence referring to the preference which shews the views taken by the public, and the grounds on which those views rest.

These are that absolute impartiality should be shewn in the allotment of wagons on some basis or other, and that to give to one trader any advantage over another in the matter of carriage is extremely unfair, and that the hardship of the present case was aggravated by the fact that letters which appeared to promise impartiality were written by the Agent, Deputy Agent, and Traffic Manager, in reply to complaints after the Circular of 1st November had by verbal and written orders been practically annulled. In proof of this the Committee refer to letters which shew that the public had solid grounds for what they asserted.—Vide Agent's letters No. 205G. of 9th January, and No. 348G. of 12th January, No. 1005G. of 9th February, Deputy Agent's letter No. 1210G. of 16th February, and Traffic Manager's letter of 5th February, to Graham and Company.

The next object of the Committee's sittings was to devise some system for correcting abuses which are said to exist.

These abuses are not, it is believed, the consequence of defective traffic management, but are caused by the insufficient carrying capacity of the Railway.

It is alleged that bribes are given and received to a large extent. The evidence on this point is not such as would ensure conviction in a Court of Law, but the statements of the witnesses and the entries in their account books make it impossible to doubt that native merchants have given money in the hope of obtaining wagons, though to whom this money ultimately found its way is a point on which it would be idle to speculate. In some cases (Proceedings pages 9 and 17) as much as Rupees 150 and Rupees 200 have been declared to be given for wagons, and generally to some servant in a very humble position, who, of himself, had no power to grant the favor for which he is asserted to have been paid. In one case a man stated that he had given baskets of vegetables and fruit, amounting in value to Rupees 63, to the Station Master himself; and in another instance a sum of money was alleged to have been given to a Platelayer's wife (Shields.) But the general statements were, as mentioned above, of sums given to native subordinates.

The subject is one for the Railway Agent to take up, who, in the present state of the law, alone has the power of punishment, for in the opinion of Magistrates a Railway servant is not a "public servant" in the sense of Section 161 of Penal Code, and therefore cannot even on conviction of receiving bribes be punished by law. Without this fear before them, with immense temptation, with very small risk of discovery and in case of conviction, with the comparatively insignificant punishment of the dismissal from the Company's service, so long as the supply of wagons falls short of the demand, and so long as the check in the distribution of the wagons at the various stations is imperfect, it is useless to hope that all Railway servants will desist from taking bribes. It is true that the Circular of the 1st November ordered a register of goods to be kept up at the stations, but this order was in the majority of cases disregarded, and the Traffic Manager now considers the register as ordered impracticable. Nor, coupled with the instructions of the Circular, would a register have met the difficulty, for the concluding words of paragraph 2 give a latitude to Station Masters, which practically leaves to them the power of allotting wagons according to the views dictated either by their discretion or their interest. The Committee understanding that the new Railway Bill has been deferred till next session, submit for the consideration of Government the advisability of passing a short Act this session, of making servants of public Companies amenable to those sections of the Penal Code under which bribery is punishable.

Upon the measures which should be introduced to remove bribery and ensure impartiality in the allotment of wagons, the Committee are not agreed. Their recommendations are, therefore, submitted separately.

There is one thing, and only thing however which will entirely remove those causes which give rise to unfairness in allotting wagons and to the giving and taking of bribes, and that is, to increase the carrying capabilities of the railroad. These are at certain seasons quite insufficient, and although they have been considerably increased still the traffic has overtaken and outstripped the powers of the Railway, which is now as formerly, unable to carry the goods brought to it.

It is a fact deserving of great attention and one quite unprecedented, that during last half of 1865 the traffic receipts of the Railway were 50 per cent. more than in the last half of the previous year, and not only this but the receipts of the second-half of 1865 exceeded those of the first-half by about Rupees 3,78,010-6-2.

Hitherto although there has been an improvement in traffic during corresponding portions of successive years, the traffic of the second-half year has invariably been largely exceeded by that of the first. An alteration of this state of things cannot be looked upon as otherwise than most hopeful as to the future prospects of the line and of its paying a dividend at an early period larger than that guaranteed by Government. But it shews also that these results cannot be ensured, and that there is little or no chance of preventing a perpetually recurring block of traffic, unless far larger measures are set on foot than those at present contemplated for meeting the probable requirements of the traffic.

The Committee regret that the statistics from the several Collectors of districts are not forthcoming, but the facts regarding traffic will hardly be denied, and the Committee would refer to the evidence on this head and to the revenue returns of the Railway, both of which point in the same direction, and they strongly recommend the immediate doubling of the line throughout from Howrah to Allahabad, with a suitable increase of locomotives and wagons.

The completion of this cannot be looked for in less than two years, and by that time, if present statistics may be accepted as any guide for the future, there will be need for still further measures.

It is in the opinion of some thought that the sanctioned Chord Line will remove the necessity for doubling that portion of the railroad between Khanoo Junction and Luckeeserai. It is possible that this view of the case may be correct, though the Committee dissent from it, but it must be remembered that the Chord Line will not be completed for four years, and that during that time a double line between Khanoo Junction and Luckeeserai will be essential for the carrying of the traffic.

Should these views of the Committee be concurred in, they suggest for consideration whether it might not be better to retard the completion of the Jubbulpore line by diverting the permanent way for the purpose of doubling portions of the main line, rather than by finishing a new feeder before this has been done to add to the difficulties at present experienced by bringing more traffic on a line the carrying powers of which are at certain seasons overtaxed.

In connection with this subject there are the important questions of the Hooghly bridge and the improvements and extension of the Howrah yard. A Committee was appointed last year to report on the former subject, and the arguments then urged in favor of the bridge are only strengthened now, and are such as to entitle the matter to re-consideration on the part of the shareholders.

The insufficient accommodation of the Howrah yard has for many years been notorious. The Committee beg to call attention to the fact that increases to the locomotive and wagon stock and the doubling of the line will be of little avail, unless the terminus of the Railway is adequate to receive and dispatch the traffic.

The Committee, in conclusion, beg to sum up their joint proposals:—

1*st*.—The introduction of a short Bill this session to make the servants of public Companies amenable to those sections of the Penal Code which make bribery punishable.

2*nd*.—The urgent necessity of doubling the line, and an adequate increase to the locomotive and wagon stock.

3*rd*.—The necessity of re-considering the question of a bridge over the Hooghly.

4*th*.—The necessity for the immediate improvement of the terminal accommodation.

From LIEUTENANT C. H. LUARD, R. E., Officiating Deputy Consulting Engineer, to CAPTAIN F. S. TAYLOR, R. E., Consulting Engineer to Government of Bengal,—(dated the 22nd March 1866.)

ON the measures to be adopted to put a stop to bribery and to ensure fairness in the distribution of wagons, I have the honor to report separately, the Committee not being agreed on this point. It is a subject involved in great difficulties, and no plan that has been suggested seems to be nearly perfect, but it appears to me that a system of registration, which will fairly meet the case, might be devised by the Traffic Manager. Some of the details of such a scheme I will presently consider. The Committee in a previous letter recommended that wagons should be put up to auction. This recommendation made with a view of providing a speedy remedy for the existing state of things, not having at the time been acted upon, could not be adopted now with any hope of affording relief during the present season, for before fair notice could be given, and a system of auction instituted, the cotton season will have passed away, and the block of traffic will, in a great measure, have ceased.

In favor of the introduction of the auction system it may be urged that it puts all merchants on an equality as regards carriage of goods. At present it appears that at some stations natives, and at others Europeans (and this last has, I believe, the more frequently been the case) have obtained a larger share of wagons than they were entitled to either with regard to the priority of date of arrival of their goods, or in respect of their quantity. It is alleged that natives have obtained this preference by paying for it. It is nearly certain that the Europeans have done so by using their personal influence, and that in consequence they have transported goods at a lower rate than the former.

The auction system, if conducted fairly, would remove this inequality which is a point strongly in its favor, and it would also increase the Railway revenues; but it would at the same time destroy one great advantage of the Railway in trade transactions, viz., a fixed unvarying tariff of rates, while if the registration system works successfully impartiality will be secured, and the rates will remain constant.

It may not be out of place here to mention that the merchants, whose opinions on this subject were sought by the Committee, dealt in a very great measure in cotton or imperishable goods, and that they viewed the question almost entirely from their own point of view. But, whilst in a matter of this sort, such important interests as those of the cotton trade ought not to be overlooked, I do not see why the interests of other branches of trade, the interests of the Railway, and the interests of the public who pay the guaranteed dividend should be entirely neglected; and with regard to the latter point I think it is a question worthy of consideration, whether it would not be well to raise the rates of carrying cotton uniformly. This would not have the objection of the auction system. It would increase the income of the Railway, and with the prices at present ruling, and cotton could well bear a higher rate than that now charged. The rates should be in classes according to the compactness of the bales, a point easily determined, and unscrewed cotton should be for the present entirely excluded.

While considering, however, that a good registration system is preferable to putting up the right of allotment of wagons to auction, there are difficulties with regard to it from which the auction system is altogether free.

What is to be the principle on which registration is to be conducted? Is priority of arrival at the station to be considered a fair ground for priority of despatch? If so, perishable goods will be entirely excluded, for no merchant will bring these to a station yard to be exposed to the weather for an indefinite period. If quantity only is to be considered then the small traders' interests will give way to those of the larger, and if both priority of arrival and quantity of goods are considered conjointly perishable goods are still unnoticed, and the calculation becomes too intricate to be practically useful.

In all such schemes, therefore, some special provision must be made for perishable goods, and the system of registration must be so simple as to give no excuse for its being disregarded by the Station Masters. I would propose, therefore, that of the wagons allotted to any station by the Traffic Manager a suitable proportion should be reserved for perishable goods, and that the remainder should be devoted to such merchants as are willing to stack in the station yard.

The amount of wagons to be reserved is a matter which can only be decided by the Traffic Manager from time to time in communication with his District Superintendents.

There should then be two registers, one of application for wagons for such goods as cannot be stacked in the station yards. The wagons to be distributed according to roster, and the merchants to forfeit their turn if their goods are not forthcoming; the wagons in such cases might probably be made over to cotton or other imperishable goods lying in the yard.

The second register should contain a list of the goods stacked in the station yard, the wagons to be distributed simply with reference to priority of arrival, the amount of the goods being left out of the question.

Such a system is, I believe, feasible if heartily entered upon by the Traffic Department, and before the great rush of goods comes next cold weather there will be a fair opportunity of seeing how it works. If it fails there seems to be no resource but to adopt the auction system, or to leave the matter as at present to the discretion of station Masters.

To facilitate the registration of cotton and imperishable goods, I think it would be well to adopt the plan suggested by Mr. Cordery for the stations in Berar, and described in the following extract :—

"It is clear that, if we can prevent misrepresentation of the quantities on the ground at the dates on which the lists are prepared and the introduction of purely fictitious entries, this door to fraud will be closed. The cotton has merely to be counted, and if this can be done in a public manner, fraud, in the face of so many jealousies, will become difficult, far more easily discoverable, and susceptible of positive proof.

"But this is what is hardly possible to do all in the present chaotic condition of the bales as they are now piled on the ground adjoining the station; it is certainly more than the Station Master can now do; and it appears to me to be more than we have a right to demand of Railway authorities without some assistance from our own side.

"I propose to-morrow with the Station Master to count the number of bales now on the ground, and Captain Osborn has ordered that a new list be drawn up according to the result of that counting.

"As this cotton is removed, any that may subsequently arrive will be stacked on the ground from which it is taken. But that ground will be first marked out in squares or sections capable of holding each 250, 500, 750, or 1,000 bales according to the number of tiers in which they may be piled. These squares will be allotted to any body who has cotton at hand to place on them, and a register of his name and the quantity he has so placed will be kept up.

"No one will be allowed to stack his cotton on the ground reserved by the Railway and by the Government except on the sections, and in accordance with the tiers prescribed for the five different descriptions of bales.

"It will then be possible, whenever a new list is prepared, to correct any false entry on the part of the agent or dealer by the most summary inspection of the sections allotted to him.

"After a section has been once filled, and the quantity on it been entered on the list, no addition will be permitted to it until it has all been removed. A material test will, therefore, be at an hand in the event of any complaint being made against the Station Master for failure in supplying the carriage due; for the quantity that would have been conveyed away, had it been supplied, would be well known to the Station Inspector.

"Captain Oldham has engaged to furnish me with the measurements necessary for mapping out the spaces, and Captain Osborn has engaged to supply the stakes necessary for the distinct division of the separate allotments. He has also engaged to contribute at least the half of any expense that may be incurred from the funds supplied by his terminal rate.

"But I would propose to levy an infinitesimal rate of half pie per month for each bojah that may be stacked on the reserved ground. Out of the fund so produced the pay of the Karkoon necessary for the registration, and the other small expenses involved in the proposed arrangement would be fully met.

"At three stations in this district the scheme cannot be thoroughly worked until the removal of the cotton now lying; but I was desired by Captain Osborn to add that, should it meet your approval, it would be a great satisfaction to him to find that the land at the station between Sheognon and Budneira, had been marked out in the way now proposed when the line was opened. It is believed that this will certainly take place on the 15th proximo."

It will be seen by this extract that station yards must be partially or altogether cleared before this scheme can be adopted, as its success depends upon parcelling out the yards into blocks capable of containing fixed quantities of goods. Directly the slackening of trade removes the present block, the station yards might be marked out, and the registration system introduced.

To make it complete I think a plan should be adopted which has been found to answer in Bombay, and which is now, on the recommendation of Major Hovenden, being tried at several stations in the North-West Provinces.

This is to have registers kept by Government servants at the important stations. These will give no claim to wagons, but will be useful as references in cases of complaints of their unfair distribution. The doubtful point seems to be that there is no certainty of the one Registrar being less open to corruption than the other, but against this the Government Registrar will have no power of distributing wagons, will not be paid by the Railway Company, and is subject to the Penal Code in the matter of bribery.

From the Chief Auditor of the East Indian Railway Company, to the Joint-Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Railway Branch, Public Works Department,—(No. 1366, dated the 22nd March 1866.)

With reference to your No. 2486. of 5th ultimo, I regret that my colleague and I do not agree in our views as to the clearing of stations and the policy of the Railway Company during such period as the Railway may be unequal to the traffic.

But this is not surprising, it being admitted on all sides that it is absolutely impossible to either clear the stations or provide for the traffic with absolute justice to all, so long as the carrying capability of the Railway is insufficient.

It may not add in any way to the force of our joint recommendation, but I cannot resist the opportunity to urge personally the absolute and urgent necessity for,

1*st*.—A large increase to the accommodation at the metropolitan terminus.

2*nd*.—A large increase to the locomotive stock.

3*rd*.—A considerable increase in the merchandize stock, particularly covered goods and coal wagons.

4*th*.—The doubling of the line without one hour's unnecessary delay upwards from Khanoo Junction.

5*th*.—A bridge over the Hooghly, with a station for passengers, as near Dalhousie Square as possible, and with a goods' station as near as possible to the river.

It is almost needless to point out that the various recommendations of the gentlemen who volunteered their evidence before the Committee, were (I will not say without exception) dictated by their personal interests. I do not say this invidiously, but they naturally looked at the question from their own especial point of view.

It is therefore quite natural, that remedies proposed for the existing state of chaos should differ.

Several gentlemen who addressed the Government of India, recommended that all traffic should be refused until the stations had been cleared. The stations being full of cotton (perishable goods being kept by merchants in their own warehouses), you could expect no other recommendation from them, because it was their interest to have their cotton brought to market.

A proposal to adopt the system, carried out by the Government of India in 1841, and subsequent years, (when the means of transport on the Ganges and Irrawaddy were unequal to the demand), prematurely, and without the authority, of the Committee, submitted to public criticism, and for the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce; was of course condemned, because the Committee, not anticipating such an ordeal, had given no explanation or reason for their recommendation, and because the jury to whom the proposal was submitted were interested parties.

To refuse all traffic excepting the goods deposited (at owner's risk) on and adjacent to the station yards, for the purpose of clearing stations—and to clear the stations, by putting up the right of preference to wagons to public auction, without due notice to the public, would, in my opinion, be equally unjust.

Indeed, I think in the present chaotic state of the stations, it is absolutely impossible to lay down any arbitrary rule for removing the present accumulation of goods, and I therefore recommend that the clearing of the stations be left to the discretion of the Traffic Manager, seeing that the mercantile community have expressed perfect confidence in his impartiality; and I would urge that the attention of the Traffic Manager, the Deputy Traffic Manager, the District Traffic Superintendents, and the Traffic Inspectors, be especially directed to his duty, until the accumulations of goods care are cleared.

For some years to come, the difficulties under which the Railway Company now labours will increase, if I am correct in my belief that it will be impossible for the Board of Directors to overtake the requirements of the traffic.

I am confident that the traffic of this country which will flow to the Railway, will for many years increase in a greater ratio than the carrying capacity of the Railway, however the Board in London may exert themselves to meet it.

The Railway Company has never been able in the cold season to meet the requirements of the traffic, consequently, neither Europeans or natives have any confidence in the Railway. Let it once be shewn that the Railway Company can carry all that is brought to it, and the traffic will very soon be quadrupled.

It is therefore my duty to suggest what seems to me proper to meet difficulties which are now upon us, and which I believe will increase from year to year, until the line is doubled and the stock adequate.

I propose to suggest alternative measures, viz.,—

1*st.*—I would recommend as fairest to all parties, a public auction, day by day, of the preference to each available wagon at very station, where the demand for wagons exceeds the supply, the goods conveyed being chargeable for carriage at the ordinary tariff rate.

The price of the preference to be paid in cash on the spot.

The wagon to be loaded within 24 hours, and the premium to be forfeited if the privilege be sold or transferred.

A list giving full particulars of the sale of each wagon to be publicly posted in the Railway station, as soon as possible after the sale, and a copy forwarded to the Audit office and the Traffic Manager daily.

2*nd.*—The alternative I would recommend, provided the Railway Company and the Government do not concur in the first proposal, is—

That the Railway Company should run special as well as ordinary merchandize trains.

That ordinary traffic be carried by ordinary trains at ordinary tariff rates.

That, as a rule, goods be forwarded according to priority of deposit on the station-ground—good being deposited at owner's risk.

That precedence be given to perishable goods.

That maximum rates be fixed by the Consulting Engineer to Government and the Railway Company's Agent, the same as in England and Bombay.

That special rates be charged, to be arranged between consignors and the Agent or Traffic Manager, for goods requiring early transit, for which special trains are run.

That the Berar system of allotment of the station-ground be adopted, so far as practicable.

That the system of registration now in force, arranged between the Deputy Agent and myself, before this enquiry was instituted, be strictly carried out, and that the check upon it be conducted by the officers of the Audit and Traffic Departments, as proposed.

That the wagons be distributed among the stations by the Traffic Manager in proportion to the merchandize traffic of each station.

In conclusion, I will only remark that in the interests of the shareholders who found the money to make the Railway and of the tax-payers of India, who for the last eighteen years have been paying the guaranteed interest, there can be no question that my first proposal is the best, and seeing that no scheme which has been suggested or can be devised, will enable the Company to distribute the wagons with absolute fairness, while they are not equal to the demand; I would beg to urge this proposal for the consideration of Government and the Railway Company (notwithstanding the sweeping condemnation of it by the Chamber of Commerce and the Press,) and I beg to call particular attention to the evidence of Mr. Hugh Fraser and Captain Howe on this subject.

On the other hand, I think that the second proposal will be more acceptable to the mercantile community; at the same time I think undue importance is attempted to be attached to the necessity for fixed rates, seeing that most transactions in cotton are in the nature of a speculation and it is only adding one insignificant additional element of uncertainty to a trade essentially fluctuating and risky.

With reference to the proposal to employ native officials of the magistracy to act as a check upon Station Masters, I cannot too strongly condemn such a plan. The employment of Government spies to watch the Railway servants would indicate, it appears to me, such an utter want of confidence in the management of the Railway by its own officers, that it would be better for the Government to take into considerrtion boldly the expediency of acting on clause 23 of the contract, by taking over the Railway into its own hands.

To undertake to carry goods according to priority of application, would, so long as the wagons are deficient, open the door to more speculation in wagons than now exists, and would foster the middlemen (wagon-brokers), now infesting the station in the North-West.

It will only add, that in considering these proposals, I hope due importance will be attached to the fact, that they are mere palliatives, and are not proposed as a remedy for the present disastrous state of affairs, the true remedy, patent to all, being a proper metropolitan terminus, adequate rolling-stock, and a double line.

Had it not been of great importance to report as early as possible, I should have reported more fully, and would have commented upon the evidence, some of it being very interesting, and indicating a state of affairs which I have never heard of on any other Railway in the world.

I may hereafter offer further remarks on the subject of this enquiry, meantime.

From the Chief Auditor of the East Indian Railway Company, to the Joint-Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch,—(No. 1405, dated the 24th March 1866.)

In continuation of my No. 1359 of 22nd instant, I beg to offer a few explanatory remarks:—

The suggestion which probably requires explanation, in effect was; that the East Indian Railway Company should have the same freedom of action and liberty to manage its own affairs in respect of fares, rates, and tolls, as Parliament grants to English Railways, and the Bombay Government has granted to the Great Indian Peninsular Railway Company, and the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Company.

The Bombay Government has sanctioned maximum rates, within which the Railway Companies in Bombay fix the actual rates to be paid, and this is the system in Great Britain and Ireland.

The Railways in Bengal have fixed rates sanctioned by Government, and they cannot charge more or less than these fixed rates.

When special accommodation is required, and the public using the railway is willing to pay for it, I think they would have just cause of complaint, if, because no latitude is allowed to the Railway Companies in fixing rates, the latter must refuse the money, and the cotton owners or others must be refused the accommodation.

Every man in India who has contributed towards payment of the guaranteed interest, during the last eighteen years, would also have a right to complain, if, by any action or laches of either the Government or the Railway Company, the Railways fail to increase their revenues in every way consistent with justice.

This freedom of action would enable the Companies to increase their revenues, and thereby relieve the tax-payers of the guarantee, without any undue pressure upon commerce.

All I claim on behalf of the guaranteed Railways in Bengal is, that they should be placed on an equal footing with those in Bombay, and it appears to me that the Government of India cannot with justice refuse it.

That part of the public using the railways would be protected from extortionate charges, by the Government fixing the maximum rate which could be enforced.

Another word with reference to the distribution of wagons. What I suggest is,—

1*st*.—That ordinary accommodation be reserved for perishable goods at ordinary tariff rates.

2*nd*.—That ordinary accommodation be reserved at ordinary rates in the order of priority of arrival for imperishable goods.

3*rd*.—That special accommodation be supplied at special rates for goods requiring rapid transit, i. e., out of its turn.

To avoid the great hardship to owners of fruit, grain, and other perishables, of their goods being allowed to germinate and rot on the station-ground, I propose that perishable goods (but a small proportion of the traffic) should be entitled to absolute precedence.

To meet the case of a merchant having imperishable goods, who cannot, or does not choose to await his turn, I propose special trains at increased rates—on the same principal that a passenger in England who wishes to travel by special or express train, must pay more than if he travel by a parliamentary train.

But special rates do not necessarily involve higher rates. In England special goods rates are invariably lower than ordinary rates, because the demand for transport is within the supply of transport.

Two or three months hence this Railway will be able to carry more traffic than offers.

In that case, it would be for the interest of the Railway Company to carry at special rates lower than the ordinary rates.

For example, a Coal Company might come to the Agent or Traffic Manager and say, "I can sell 50,000 maunds of coal if you will carry it to Calcutta for two and half annas per maund, but if you charge your ordinary rates, I cannot sell the coal."

The reply at present would be "I cannot deviate from the sanctioned rate."

The consequence would be that the coal-owner would not sell his coal, the Railway Company would lose the traffic, and the tax-payers would be delayed in the recoupment of the guranteed interest.

It may be objected that so long as the Company has insufficient rolling-stock, the whole of the Company's carrying powers should be employed in carrying at ordinary rates.

This objection would be unanswerable if all were willing to accept priority of arrival as the sole claim to priority of dispatch, but it must be remembered, no scheme that is absolutely fair to all parties, has yet been proposed, nor do I claim for my proposal this merit.

From CAPTAIN F. S. TAYLOR, R. E., Joint-Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, to R. ROBERTS, Esq., Chief Auditor, East Indian Railway Company,—(No. 715G., dated the 29th March 1866.)

I AM instructed to convey to you the Lieutenant-Governor's acknowledgments for the valuable report submitted jointly by Lieutenant C. H. Luard, R. E., and yourself, on the public complaints against the goods management of the East Indian Railway, and to inform you that it has been submitted with the whole body of evidence to His Excellency the Governor General in Council with my letter No. 703, dated 27th March, a copy of which is enclosed for your information.

2. In reply to your letter No. 1359 of the 22nd March, I am directed to state that the Lieutenant-Governor entirely concurs in the necessity for giving the greatest possible freedom of action to the Agent in his mercantile transactions with the public, otherwise, in point of fact, the management of the Railway would devolve upon Government, and your attention is solicited to paragraph 5 of my enclosed letter to the Agent, which expresses His Honor's views on the subject.

3. As far as the Lieutenant-Governor is aware, the maximum rates prevailing in Bombay, alluded to by you in general terms, are identical with the East Indian Railway tariff, and His Honor is perfectly ready to authorize the Agent to make any abatements he may, from time to time, deem advisable, provided such concession is granted to the public at large and not to individual companies or traders, and that his proceedings in this respect are taken in concurrence with the Consulting Engineer at the weekly official meetings.

4. In point of fact, the Agent has for a long time past exercised this function in a modified degree; and, as instances in point, I would remind you that the existing cotton rates, which give to the dealers who best screw their cotton a discount on the ordinary tariff rates, was sanctioned at an official meeting on the Agent's motion, and the reduced rates for grain and seeds carried greater distances than 300 miles was similarly sanctioned.

5. It is not improbable that a period may come when the Agent will cease to be fettered in any respect by Government control; but you would hardly propose as a result of an inquiry, where Government has been called on to interpose on behalf of the public, that the right of veto on the Agent's proceeding should now be surrendered once for all.

6. Your letters, I am to state, have been forwarded to the Agent for such action as he may deem necessary; your recommendations having been based on personal discussion with the mercantile community will doubtless carry great weight with the Company's representative.

From CAPTAIN F. S. TAYLOR, R. E., Joint-Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department,—(No. 703, dated 27th March 1866.)

CONTINUING the subject of my letter No. 507*G.*, dated 7th March 1866, I am instructed to forward, for submission to His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the report of the Committee appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor to investigate the public complaints against the goods management of the East Indian Railway, together with the Agent's reply.

2. The specific complaint of the European firms, who addressed the Consulting Engineer, was to the effect, that native dealers obtained an undue preference by means of bribery, but before the Committee the preference shewn by the Agent to the Commercial Transport Association was urged as their real grievance.

3. It now appears from the Committee's report and the Agent's statements that in the struggle for precedence the European dealers and agents in the North-Western Provinces, by personal influence and agitation, had succeeded in monopolising more than one-half for the whole available carriage of the Railway of cotton, while the native dealers confess to have resorted to a system of bribery as the only way of obtaining a share of the wagons.

4. With respect to the preference granted to the Commercial Transport Association, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the cancelling of the order by the Agent himself, disposes of the question satisfactorily as far as Government is concerned.

The Agent has reported to the Directors concerning his dealings with the Commercial Transport Association, that the bulk of their debt arose from the non-presentation in due course of the several monthly bills incurred in the North-Western Provinces, where they were subject to audit and recovery by the Deputy Agent at Allahabad. Nothing was known of these bills in Calcutta until the 18th February 1865, when intimation was received from Mr. Barton, the Deputy Agent, that bills for more than a lac of Rupees were unpaid, and credit was immediately stopped.

At present a sum of about Rupees 1,60,000 constitutes the debt, and provision has been made for its liquidation at the rate of Rupees 10,000 per mensem under sufficient security.

The Lieutenant-Governor does not consider a general statement of this sort satisfactory, and has directed Messrs. Roberts and Luard to take the depositions of those concerned, and report fully on the Commercial Transport Association debt, and the means taken for its liquidation, for the information of Government.

To avoid similar recurrences, the Audit office now prepare weekly bills, and for better supervision, the two branch Traffic Audit offices will shortly be concentrated at Jumalpore under a responsible officer.

5. Whether it is possible, under so exceptional a pressure as that now existing, to distribute wagons with perfect fairness is not a problem for the Government to solve.

Pending any substantive proposition from the Agent in respect to the recommendations of the members of the Committee, the Lieutenant-Governor has intimated that he is satisfied with the Agent's declaration that the whole available carrying power of the Railway will be distributed impartially, and a copy of my letter to that effect is attached.

As an experimental measure approved by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, the daily registers at one or more stations in those Provinces, where alone the pressure has been felt, will be checked by means of a separate Government registration under the orders of the local Magistrates, on the Bombay system.

6. Viewing the subject at large in the light of the Committee's investigation, the conclusion is obvious to the Lieutenant-Governor, that the existing tariff has diverted to the Railway more of the season's cotton crop than with its present locomotive and carrying power, it can possibly deliver in Calcutta, and consequently that it is perfectly feasible to assimilate the Railway rate more nearly to that of the River Steam Companies with perfect fairness to all parties.

7. Once before, this season, the Government has been forced to animadvert on the management of the East Indian Railway, on the occasion of the failure of fuel which deranged the traffic of the North-Western Provinces last November, but it now appears from a review of the whole correspondence that this failure was simply the first indication of the present crisis, and the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to be able, in a great measure, to exonerate the Company's officers from blame with reference to your letter No. 25 of 8th January 1866.

The Jumna bridge was opened for goods traffic in August 1865, and a daily series of through goods trains was organized, which worked well while the traffic was light; but as early as the 9th October, the Traffic Manager and Locomotive Superintendent of the Upper Division began to urge upon the Agent the absolute necessity for increasing the locomotive power to prevent a collapse; and on the 15th November when certain of the trains had actually ceased to run for want of engine power, the Time Table was revised by discontinuing two goods trains up and down. The Agent having ordered the dispatch of coal to the Upper Division immediately on the opening of the Jumna bridge had reason to believe that this relief would come in time, but unfortunately Mr. Batchelor, the Traffic Manager of the Lower Division, demurred against diverting his rolling-stock, then working to its utmost, to feed the Upper Division with fuel, and before his objections were overruled the crisis had arrived

By the 15th November one-half of the locomotive stock of the Upper Division were under repair in the shops in consequence of over-work, and so far had the evil spread that on the 9th November, and again on the 11th, one of the daily passenger trains did not run for want of fuel.

8. Setting aside all minor failures, or differences of opinion on matters connected with the details of management, for which the Agent is primarily responsible to the Directors, the real blot on the administration of the East Indian Railway is at this moment, unquestionably, want of engine power, and it devolves upon the Lieutenant-Governor under the orders conveyed in your letter No. 240R., dated 2nd March 1866, to indicate where the responsibility for this really lies.

9. The locomotives now running have been sent out from time to time to meet the ad interim requirements of the traffic, as the several sections of the line in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces were opened; but the subject, as a whole, was first laid before Government by the Special Finance Committee, who recorded in their report, dated 23rd of January 1863, that sixty-six engines were on that date due from England to work a traffic of £85 per mile per week over the whole line.

Mr S. Power
" R. Roberts.
Captain F. S. Taylor.

Of this number, though indented for in 1862, thirty-five are still wanting, and these missing engines are all goods engines.

10. From an examination of the papers in the Agent's office, it appears that a steady expansion of the traffic was foreseen, and one year after the Committee had reported as above, that is to say, in December 1863, and January 1864, revised estimates for rolling-stock to work a traffic of £40 per mile per week were sent home by the Agent, including an emergent indent duly sanctioned by Government for 1,200 sets of vehicle iron work.

11. On these estimates the Directors distinctly refused to act, and after further correspondence and the reiterated disapproval of the Directors, the Agent, in May 1865, submitted the revised estimates in a complete shape, together with those for the rolling-stock of the Jubbulpore Extension and Chord Line, to the Consulting Engineer, for the approval of Government, and the whole were duly forwarded to you by His Honor's orders with my letter No. 793G., dated 31st May 1865, and were finally sanctioned by the Government of India as intimated in your letter No. 576R., dated 14th July 1865.

12. The Lieutenant-Governor now learns from the Ageint with extreme regret that, although 150 engines and 2,000 sets of vehicle iron work have at last been ordered, as stated by the Board in their letter of 26th December 1865, it is not probable that any locomotives will be received before the end of the year, and that only sixty sets of vehicle iron work out of the 1,200 indented for in December 1863 have, by the last advices, been shipped from England. The Governor General in Council will no doubt recognize the imperative necessity for moving the Secretary of State to urge the Board of Directors to procure and despatch all the engines and carriages indented for as soon as possible.

13. The Committee recommend that a short Act be passed this session for making servants of public Companies amenable to those sections of the Penal Code under which bribery is publishable. This suggestion the Lieutenant-Governor does not support, but it will be advisable to insert a section in the projected Railway Bill making the servants of Railway Companies liable to punishment for bribery, and in the meantime the Agent should make a severe example of any servant of the Company found so misconducting himself.

14. With respect to the other recommendations of the Committee, it is, I am directed to state, impossible to advocate the doubling of the line as far as Allahabad with greater urgency than was done by the Lieutenant-Governor in my letter No. 235G., dated 25th February 1865, when it first became apparent that the traffic of the North-Western Provinces was choking the single line in Bengal. It is now clear that the doubling of the line from Khanoo to Luckeserai is an object of far greater and more pressing importance than the opening of the Chord Line, and that the former should be undertaken, and pressed to completion at once, independently of the latter.

15. The Lieutenant-Governor recommends that this subject be urged on the Directors forthwith, and he would suggest that the permanent way ordered for the Cord Line, which will begin to arrive this year, may be diverted to the doubling of the present line, under agreement with the Contractors, Messrs. Brassey, Perry and Company, who have a time bargain for the completion of the Chord Line; and the Agent may further, with the approval of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, be directed to order the preparation of material, and indent on the Directors for the heavier bridge iron work, in anticipation of the completion of detailed estimates. The Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied that if sufficient energy is brought to bear on the work it might be executed by December 1867, whereas it is not improbable that the present season will be lost to the Chord Line contractors, and that their operations will be retarded beyond even the contract time, which expires in December 1869.

16. About 35 miles of permanent way material are, I am to state, with reference to your letter No. 184R., dated 14th February, now wanting to complete the 80 miles of double line sanctioned between Burheea and Bihta stations, and this quantity ought, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, as suggested by the Committee, to be appropriated from the Jubbulpore stock now coming to hand, under some arrangement with the Contractors, Messrs. Warring, Brothers and Hunt, who have a time bargain for the completion of the line. These rails are of a smaller section than those of the main line, but this minor difficulty may, His Honor thinks, with advantage, be set aside on emergency.

Should the Agent not feel himself at liberty to carry out this measure with the approval of Government, he might at all events be moved to solicit authority from the Directors by telegraph.

17. An equally urgent matter is the extension of the terminal accommodation at Howrah.

The Lieutenant-Governor learns with much satisfaction that the goods accommodation will be more than doubled in the course of next month, and no time should be lost in preparing for a further expansion by the time the new coal and salt depôt is ready for opening; and the Agent may be directed, with the approval of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, to indent on the Directors for a large quantity of iron shedding for housing goods, and for the iron jetties and coal drops, if they have not yet been dispatched.

18. These urgent measures having all been put in train, the estimates for doubling the line between Buxar and Allahabad, including the Soane, Jumna and other large iron bridges, ought to be put in hand by the Engineers without loss of time, and, with the approval of His Excellency the Governor General in Council, the Agent will be moved to expedite their preparation for submission to Government.

19. In connection with the doubling from Buxar to Allahabad, the question of additional rolling-stock must also be considered; but the Lieutenant-Governor does not, I am to state, anticipate any further derangement of the traffic if the present difficulty is overcome, for the expansion of the ordinary traffic is gradual during eight months of the year, while the cotton crop is an exceptional element.

20. To complete the requirements of your letter No. 240R., a statement of the traffic earnings from December 1865 to March 1866, compared with the same period of the previous year, is appended.

R. ROBERTS,
Chief Auditor.

From the Agent, East Indian Railway Company, to CAPTAIN F. S. TAYLOR, R. E., Consulting Engineer to Government of Bengal,—(No. 2304G., dated the 26th March 1866.)

WITH reference to the joint report of the Committee, appointed in accordance with letter from Government of Bengal, No. 248G., a copy of which report has been furnished to me, I have the honor to observe that, whether the preference given to the Commercial Transport Association, be injudicious or not, is purely a matter of opinion. As I informed you before, it was done deliberately, under legal advice, and its withdrawal was similarly determined upon, irrespective of His Honor's opinion, which was not expressed till afterwards.

Whether this preference be fair or unfair to the rest of the public, is a question which can only be determined when it is decided on what basis priority in the allotment of wagons becomes a claim. It should hardly be necessary for me to say, that, if I had considered my orders in respect of the Commercial Transport Association unfair to the rest of the public, I should not have issued such orders at all. And it must be borne in mind, that the letters which are quoted as appearing "to promise impartiality," were written in the belief, which I still maintain, that no partiality has been shewn beyond what is fair in the interests of the Company, and of the State that guarantees their dividend.

It was never intended to give the Commercial Transport Association any more wagons than they could load, that is to say, than they could with goods brought by themselves to the stations in the ordinary course of a Carrying Company's business; and the object of the order was to enable them to resume their ordinary business, and to recover the ground they had lost by its interruption. The following extracts will sufficiently shew, that it was never contemplated that the Station Masters should blindly hand over to them all or any of the wagons at the stations named, unless they had goods to put into them.

Extract of a demi-official letter from Mr. Palmer to Mr. Batchelor, dated 1st February 1866.—"Should any instance occur of Mr. Palmer's disposing of the wagons to others, the privilege will be at once stopped."

Extract of a letter from Mr. DaCosta, Manager, Commercial Transport Association, to Mr. T. G. Palmer, dated 9th February 1866.

"Mr. Palmer told me that he would be in Allahabad on Wednesday, the 14th instant, to find out if the complaints made in the papers are correct, and that if he finds that you or your agents have been selling wagons, and have no cotton of your own to forward, he would recall his letter regarding the distribution of wagons to the Commercial Transport Association."

"Mr. Stephenson told me that the order to give you the preference, was not made to enable you to create an agency for the despatch of cotton where you had none, and if you are selling the wagons for Rupees 120 each, you have ruined yourself and compromised him."

It is to be regretted, that the object was not more clearly defined in the order issued to the Traffic Manager, but it certainly never was intended to place them in the position of Middlemen or Touters, with a preference of wagons to trade on the rest of the public; for this is precisely the position which the Native Carrying Companies, who have been so urgent in their appeals to the Government of India, and who have been so repeatedly refused by the Company, were trying to obtain.

The complaint of unfairness has been raised principally by a small section of the public, speculating in cotton, who, as appears from the evidence before the Committee, have been trading on their influence, in precisely the same way as the Commercial Transport Association are said to have done under my order, and have managed to obtain between the 1st October and the 15th February last, for the conveyance of cotton alone 5,002 wagons out of 9,169, or, upwards of 54 per cent. of all the wagons that have reached Howrah within that period.

It is remarkable, that whilst things were going on thus pleasantly, the European cotton traders were perfectly satisfied with the Company's arrangements. It was only when the Commercial Transport Association came into the field, that they found it necessary to complain of bribery and corruption. And this is remarkably confirmed by Mr. Feilman's reply to question 539, "the letter is rather against my interest of course, I should wish to keep these natives out of the market, if possible; but seeing that the present state of things could not last long, and that the natives would have gone somewhere else, I dictated the letter." Meanwhile, it would seem, that the natives had been all but excluded, except by a heavy outlay in bribery. Now it is obvious, that, to whatever extent the natives could afford to bribe, to that extent, and more, the European cotton traders and cotton screwers were profiting on every individual wagon they could get hold of. So that to my mind, the order of preference to the Commercial Transport Association has been productive of no small good to the public generally. I do not of course include in this benefit, the European cotton traders, or justify any abuse of my orders, by the Commercial Transport Association.

An attempt was made to shew that, by the Circular of 1st November to the Station Masters, the Company had guaranteed to the public, priority of despatch, according to the order in which the goods arrived at the stations, and that this guarantee had been superseded by private orders to the Traffic Manager, to give the Commercial Transport Association a preference. There was, of course, no such guarantee ever implied in the Circular order, and the supposed private orders were nothing more than the verbal orders to the Traffic Manager, which constantly precede official instructions.

Mr. Carter's Circular instructed the Station Masters to "impartially distribute such vehicles as are on hand, in due proportion to the amount of each description of goods, precedence to be given to that which has been longest at the station, of course with due attention to the Company's interests, regarding class and distance." This was represented in Messrs. Gisborne & Co.'s letter, which was published in the Englishman of 20th February, as follows,—"precedence to be given to that which has been longest at the station of course." And Mr. Moncrieff of that firm, when asked to account for the omission of the last line, admitted that he had excluded it himself, "because we were anxious to shew that the spirit of the Circular was directly at variance with the orders issued regarding the Commercial Transport Association." Of course it was, when the particular element (class), which constituted the difference between a trader in goods of one class, and a General Carrying Company, was left out.

The traders complain not only that they do not obtain a fair share of those wagons which are available at each station, but that the wagons are not fairly distributed amongst the stations. In my No. 1013G. of 10th February, to the Government of India, on this subject, I wrote as follows:—

"It is possible that the Government of India has scarcely realized the extreme difficulty of the position. What is demanded amounts to this: that the Company shall make itself acquainted with the daily requirements of all the merchants at all the stations on the line in respect of wagons, and with the proportional daily requirements of each trader at each station, in that respect, and thereo make n equal distribution of all the available wagons. This is clearly impossible, and the most that can be done, is to distribute the wagons as fairly as possible, amongst the stations, and thereafter among the traders at those stations."

"But what is the standard by which the Company is to make this distribution of wagons amongst the stations, and thereafter among the traders? Is it to be priority of application, or priority of arrival of goods at the station, or priority by virtue of the magnitude of the traders operations? Is the small trader to be excluded when the capitalist wants all the wagons? Is the Company bound to carry goods which will return a small profit, when goods are offered by hundreds of tons which will yield a greater? What is the rule? I am obliged to say, that I know of none beyond the honest endeavour to deal as fairly as possible by all, consistent with the interest of the Company, nor do I believe that the Government of India is in a position to assist me. The pith of the matter is the scarcity of the stock, and its increase alone will set the matter to rights. With every disposition to deal fairly by all, it is impossible but what offence will arise amongst a mixed community, thirsting for gain, given to bribery, and not at all particular in respect of libelling its neighbours."

This communication has, I understand, been transferred for the consideration of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and I have only to say, that I shall most willingly be guided by any suggestion His Honor may give, which will tend to solve the problem.

There are three distinct grounds on which it is claimed, that the wagons should be issued, and it would be satisfactory to have it authoritatively determinated to which priority should be given,—

1*st*.—To the magnitude of the traders' operations.

2*nd*.—To the tender of goods at the stations for transport.

3*rd*.—To written applications for wagons, and,

4*th*.—How far, class and distance are entitled in the interest of the Railway Company itself to have any bearing on the question.

The point which has principally attracted the Lieutenant-Governor's attention, is the preference given to the Commercial Transport Association, and on this point, the propriety of which I have already observed, is purely a matter of opinion, I may remark, that the Commercial Transport Association has for many years been the largest constituent of the Railway Company, and if I am to be guided by the grounds on which some of these cotton merchants base their claims for wagons, viz., the magnitude of their operations, the Commercial Transport Association will assuredly establish its claims to the largest preference. That its operations have been limited since March last year, was owing to the Railway Company's restriction of its credit, without which, no Carrying Company could possibly carry on its business.

If the distribution is to be regulated by what the cotton traders call a "fair share," that is to say, I presume, by issuing to all in the future, on due proportion to what they have had in the past, the majority of the European traders, and especially Messrs. Gilmour and Co., and Messrs. Feilmann and Co., who have been reaping the benefit of the Commercial Transport Association's in action, would be almost entirely excluded for the next few months in favor of the latter, who, it should be remembered, are general carriers, and not cotton traders, and also in favor of the native dealers.

Again, if priority is to be given to the tender of goods at the station, then those merchants whose godowns, like Messrs. Hamilton, Brown & Co., of Mirzapore, are adjoining the Railway station, and who do not choose to expose their goods, without the certainty of being able to load them, will be excluded altogether.

But in my opinion the Commercial Transport Association and all bona fide Carrying Companies have a fair claim to priority of despatch, irrespective of all those grounds. As feeders to the Railway, they take delivery of goods in all parts of India; as common carriers they are bound to deliver within a reasonable time, and unless some preference be given to them for the transport of goods when brought to the station, under these conditions, it is clear that they are liable to a heavy penality at law, for delays over which they have no control whatever, whilst their constituents are without the alternative of adopting other means of transport. It is idle to speak of a Carrying Company as "one trader." It is as much a section of the public as the cotton traders are, and a preference given to it, and used only as intended for the legitimate purposes of its business, cannot be unfair to the public, or affect its interest half so much as the personal influence, which has apparently been brought to bear by the European cotton traders, to the exclusion of the native dealers.

The Committee, in common with the public, appears to have misconceived the object of the Circular of 1st November, and the system of registration which it enjoined. As a guide to Station Masters in the issue of wagons, it is vague in the extreme, and could not be otherwise, because no one was prepared to lay down a rule for their issue. But its object was not to guide the Station Masters, but to give the Traffic Manager the means of knowing how the Station Masters were distributing the wagons.

This will be further evident from the fact, that while the perference order to the Commercial Transport Association was still in force, a new form of registration was devised and issued, (February 13th) with the same view, viz., to ascertain the order in which the goods were tendered for transport, and the order in which they were despatched by the Station Master. This would enable the Company to ascertain if any undue preference was being shewn, whilst the Station Master could be called upon to shew cause why goods were despatched other than in the order of their arrival, as for instance; perishable goods, goods of higher class, goods going longer distances, better screwed cotton, or what not; and failing sufficient reason, would leave fair ground for suspicion. More than this I have already said, it is not in the Company's power to effect, until it be determined on what grounds priority of despatch becomes a right.

With regard to the memorial suggesting that "orders be issued preventing Station Masters from receiving fresh supplies of cotton and other produce, until the large accumulation of goods awaiting transit has been cleared," I need only remark that as Station Masters never do "receive" goods until they are loaded in the Company's wagons, and have no sort of power to prevent traders from bringing any quantity of goods to the station, such an order would be simply useless. In urging the proposal, however, upon the Government, did it occur to Messrs. Borradaile, Schiller & Co., and the eight others who signed that document, that if such an order could have been enforced, it would have given them and their cotton agents, an absolute monopoly for a considerable period, to the exclusion of all those who apply in writing only for wagons, and of the ordinary traffic of the country?

It will, I presume, be now admitted, that the position is somewhat complicated, and the question at issue, not quite so easy of solution as the complaining traders would imply, when so many, who are thoroughly agreed, as to what is their own interest, are unable to agree amongst themselves as to the remedy.

Nothing that the Company could do would be likely to satisfy all parties for, indeed, it is not practicable, while the complaining parties are not agreed as to what is fair, and what is not, and it certainly remains to be shewn, that the preference given to the Commercial Transport Association, whether based on the "magnitude of its operations" or on a "fair share" of what they have certainly had very little for the last twelve months, is unfair, or that, even where the preference given to the Commercial Transport Association has been abused, it differs in particular, from the preference which Messrs. Gilmour and Messrs. Cohen, Feilmann appear to have been enjoying for a considerable period at Agra, to the exclusion of their neighbours.

The exception taken by Mr. Feilmann, at the Etawah enquiry on the 22nd February, to some supposed arrangements with Messrs. Carr & Co., of Allahabad, is unreasonable. Messrs. Carr proposed to build warehouses near the principal stations, and to receive from the traders the goods which the Railway Company cannot receive until loaded in their wagons, Messrs. Carr thus becoming local agents to such traders as chose to employ them, at a commission to be settled between them. They proposed to keep a register of all goods brought to the Railway station, precisely similar to that kept by the Station Masters, provided, that the Company would promise to despatch goods in the order of their arrival, so that they might be able to claim their turn for wagons in common with those who preferred bringing their goods to the Railway station, and as such a register would be the most effectual check on the Station Master's proceedings that the Company could devise, no objection could be raised to the scheme. And the more so, as the Company has no power to prevent Messrs. Carr or anybody else from adopting such a course, whilst the Company would reap the benefit of the double register, and a jealous watching of the issue of wagons by an outsider, in the interests of his constituents. It is precisely the same scheme as that adopted in Bombay, only the check on the Station Master is the warehouseman, warehousing for his own profit, instead of the Government official. But the difficulty still remains of determining the grounds for priority which could not be accorded to priority of arrival.

This of course would never suit Mr. Feilmann, for it was shewn in the evidence, that between 1st November 1865, and 22nd February 1866, Messrs. Gilmour and Co., and Messrs. Feilmann & Co., got at Agra 541 wagons out of 969, or nearly 56 per cent. of all the stock available for cotton, at the station within that period.

I am bound, however, in justice to these gentlemen, to record my belief, that their success did not arise from any undue influence, but simply from the fact that they screwed their cotton better; and the right of the Company to prefer on this ground, is one of the questions which I have raised above. The obvious conclusion, therefore, is, that in giving a preference to a general Carrying Company, the Company has consulted the interests of the general public quite as much if not more than its own, and this is remarkably confirmed by Mr. Feilmann's reply to question 540, "We did not get our fair share of wagons from 14th to date, inclusive. We had only 68 out of 161, and our proportion of cotton on the station-ground has always been the same as on the 13th February." That is to say, that by keeping up their stock on the ground the local traders on the line of Railway, so long as their views of what was a "fair share" were accepted, could keep the distant merchants entirely out of the field.

This is exactly what the traders are asking for, and the rule of right or wrong remains as undetermined as before. Since writting the above I have received your No. 676G. of 24th March, and will reply to the proposals of the members of the Committee in a separate letter.

From CAPTAIN F. S. TAYLOR, R. E., Joint-Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Railway Branch, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Public Works Department,—(No. 763G., dated the 5th April 1866.)

No. 27 of 1866.

EAST INDIAN RAILWAY.

Minutes of a Meeting held on Tuesday, 3rd April 1866, between the Board of Agency and the Consulting Engineer.

Present:

Captain F. S. Taylor, R. E.,
Consulting Engineer.
Mr. E. Palmer,
„ C. Stephenson,
„ S. Power,

The late correspondence in the daily papers, and the dissatisfaction of the public at the inadequacy of the traffic rules to prevent bribery in the distribution of wagons being discussed, the Traffic Manager was summoned.

The joint and separate reports of the Committee, lately appointed on this subject (Appendix A.) were laid on the table; these, and the several proposals, for the prevention of bribery, and for ensuring fairness in the distribution of wagons were considered.

397. Resolved, that prompt action is necessary, and that the following be adopted as a tentative measure:—

There shall be allotted for cotton two-thirds of the number of wagons available at Delhi, Gazeeabad, Khoorjah, Allyghur, Hattrass, Agra, Etawah, Cawnpore, Allahabad, Mirzapore, and Benares.

The registered tender of cotton and all other goods actually brought on to the Railway Company's premises, or immediately adjacent thereto, shall constitute a claim to priority of transport by the wagons available at these stations.

In the wagons devoted to the ordinary traffic, perishable goods will be allowed to take precedence of others.

The class of goods, and the distance to which they are to be carried, will in all cases be considered in the allotment of wagons.

With reference to Mr. Palmer's advertisement, announcing that the rate for cotton shall be raised from 1st May.

398. Resolved, although the cotton was not delivered to the Railway Company, that such cotton as was deposited on the Company's premises, or immediately adjacent thereto at the several stations on 1st April, and not cleared off by 1st May, shall be carried at the old rates. It being determined that the Circular shall not have retrospective effect.

Road from Mooraroie to Amraparah in Bhaugulpore.

From A. MONEY, Esq., C. S., Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal (on tour),—(No. 334, dated the 11th August 1865.)

I BEG to bring to the notice of the Lieutenant-Governor a liberal offer of Baboo Gopal Chunder Sing, Zemindar of Pergunnah Sultanabad, in the Sonthal Pergunnahs, to give gratis, for a road from the Railway Station at Mooraroie to Amraparah on the Bansloie River, a distance of 21 miles, as much of the land as lies within his Zemindaree, about 18 miles, and to pay half the estimated cost of construction.

2. The proposed road would run through a well cultivated district, and be of great advantage to the people of that part of the country. Amraparah is a large Bazaar on the Eastern border of the Damun. The contemplated road would give an outlet to all the traffic of the Bansloie Valley, which at present is almost completely shut in during six months of the year.

3. I would suggest that instructions be given to the Superintending Engineer to have a survey made during the next cold weather of the proposed line of road, and that an estimate based upon this survey be then prepared, so as to enable me, should the grant given next year allow of it, to allot funds for the construction of the road.

From LIEUTENANT-COLONEL J. E. T. NICOLL, R. E., Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Public Works Department, to the Commissioner of the Sonthal Pergunnahs,—(No. 1248, dated the 11th April 1866.)

IN reply to your letter No. 34, dated 7th ultimo, on the subject of the offer made by Baboo Gopaul Chunder Sing, of Sultanabad, in Zillah Bhaugulpore, to give, free of cost, land of his Zemindaree for the construction of a road from Mooraroie, on the East Indian Railway, to Amraparah, in the Damun-i-koh, and also to pay half the cost of construction, I am directed to forward herewith a copy of a letter to the Superintending Engineer of the Northern Circle, No. 797, dated 15th idem, relative to the line of the proposed road, and to express a hope that the line may soon be settled and an estimate prepared for the construction of the road.

2. I am also directed to request that you will convey to Baboo Gopal Chunder Sing, of Sultanabad, the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor for his enlightened liberality in making the offer in question.

3. A copy of your letter No. 334 of 11th August last, and of these orders, will be published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette.

Report of the Chittagong Agricultural Exhibition.

From W. GORDON YOUNG, Esq., Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 655, dated the 21st March 1866.)

I HAVE the honor, in continuation of my letter No. 638, dated the 14th instant, to submit, for the information of the Lieutenant-Governor, the accompanying copy of a report from the Committee on the Agricultural Exhibition held at Chittagong on the 25th, 26th and 27th of January last, together with the papers noted on the margin.

List of Prizes awarded.
Sketch of receipts and disbursements.

Report of the Chittagong Agricultural Committee.

THE exhibition this year was held on the 25th, 26th, and 27th of January last, somewhat earlier than that of last year, which was on the 10th, 11th, and 13th of February. The buildings were erected on the same site as last year, viz, on a large piece of open ground in the military cantonment and were of the same dimensions. It was however to be regretted that the house built for the produce department was not larger, as sufficient room was not available for the large quantities of rice and paddy which were unexpectedly brought in.

2. A list of the prizes awarded accompanies the report, and we record our opinion on the different articles exhibited in the order in which they are placed in the prospectus.

3. There were several very fair specimens of local breed; though of up-country species, one bull, the property of a goala of the town, was the only one worthy of note, and to this the first prize was awarded. This bull also carried off the first prize last year. The country bulls were of the ordinary kind. There were two or three very good milch cows which also gained prizes.

Live-stock.
Common cattle.

4. There were two fine specimens sent in by the Kaliudee Ranee. The others were comparatively inferior. One white buffalo from Ramoo may be noted as a curiosity.

Buffaloes.

5. Only one ram worthy of a prize was exhibited, and no ewes, which is to be regretted.

Sheep.

Half a dozen prizes were awarded to goats, but there were not any of them worthy of note.

Goats.

6. The show of poultry was as large and as good as last year's. The natives in the town are, we believe, taking some interest in improving the breed of the large Chittagong fowls since the last exhibition, but in the mofussil we do not think any more attention than usual has been given to the matter.

Poultry.
Fowls.
Turkeys.
Geese.
Ducks.
Pigeons.

7. There was a very large show of rice and paddy this year. About 500 baskets of rice alone were brought, averaging from five to ten seers a basket. In the 500 baskets we do not suppose there were more than a dozen varieties of rice, and we awarded prizes only to the best. We are of opinion that very few actual cultivators got prizes, but it was indeed difficult to find them out, as every exhibitor represented himself to be a cultivator. The same remarks apply to paddy, only that the quantity exhibited was not so large as of rice.

Rice and paddy.

8. Three lots carried off prizes, and they were very fair specimens of wheat grown in the district.

Wheat.

9. These were not above the ordinary kind to be had in any district in Bengal, though prizes were awarded more as an encouragement than any thing else.

Pulses.

10. The only two articles worthy of note under this head are the potatoes and arrowroot. The potatoes came from Ramoo and the cultivation of them ought to be encouraged in this district. The Ramoo potatoes were, however, far from being so good as those grown in Dacca or in the neighbourhood of Calcutta, but they might be greatly improved by proper cultivation and better seed. The arrowroot grown in Chittagong is as good as we have seen anywhere, and has been pronounced, we believe, by some Calcutta judges, to be fully as good as what is known as "Speede's."

Tubers, &c.

11. There were some good specimens of hemp, jute and cotton, but no flax.

Fibres and other Fibres.

Mr. S. M. Barry exhibited about 5lbs of tea made on his new plantation, which, side by side with the produce of an old garden in the station, shewed at once superior manipulation and, consequently, improved quality, and carried off the first prize. We hope that this specimen may be regarded as an indication of what Chittagong may become in a few years as a tea-producing district and a rival of Assam, Cachar and Sylhet. Very good coffee might also be noticed as being produced in this district. The other articles, such as betelnuts sugar-cane, &c. were of the ordinary kind.

Miscellaneous.

12. A few oranges, the produce of this district, were exhibited, and were very fine. The crop of oranges in Chittagong is unfortunately limited and only grows well at a place called Howla; in other parts of the district it does not succeed so well. It not being the season for fruit, no other kinds worthy of notice were exhibited.

Fruits.

13. Goor, ghee, cheese, oils, &c. do not deserve any particular notice.

Manufactured Produce.

14. Some silk cloths manufactured by Mughs at Cox's Bazaar were exhibited, to which prizes were awarded, and some cotton cloths made in Chittagong of good texture also got prizes.

Cloths.

15. With the exception of one or two ploughs exhibited by tea-planters, the implements sent in were merely common ploughs, kodals, daos, &c., such as are in every day use, and strictly speaking, none were deserving of prizes. The judges awarded a few prizes, however, in the hope of offering encouragement for something better in future years.

Implements.

16. A sketch of the receipts and disbursements is appended below. We have only had to draw Rupees 134 from the Government grant of Rupees 3,000 made this year, and as the Government has expressed a desire that we should re-pay any sum drawn from the grant "from the proceeds of the exhibition," we shall be able to re-pay about Rupees 80 of this when the subscriptions are fully realized. More than this we regret we shall not be able to refund.

Finance.

17. In order to make the exhibition as attractive as possible to natives and thus draw a larger number to it, we had pony races in the morning and fireworks in the evening of the first day; also races the following two mornings, and foot races the third evening, to all which the natives crowded in hundreds and seemed well pleased. Yet, we regret to add that the exhibition was not altogether as successful as might have been expected and as the last year's committee had hoped for. The native zemindars have shewn very little interest in the matter and afforded little or no assistance in a pecuniary way. With the exception of the Kalindee Rance, scarcely any of the landholders sent in anything, nor did they even come to the exhibition. The sale of tickets was consequently very limited. On the first day, when the price of admission was eight annas, only 237 persons visited the place, many of whom were Europeans, and on the second day only 338 persons paid two annas each for admission. On the last, which was a free day, the place was crowded, but by the lower class of natives who could not afford to buy tickets. We record with pleasure the liberality of the tea-planters, who subscribed Rupees 430, while the zemindars and other natives gave only Rupees 184. On the whole, we are compelled to the conclusion that this part of Bengal is yet scarcely ripe for these exhibitions, and that the most advanced and enlightened members of the native community with scarcely a single exception, do not understand their object or feel interested in them, and we would recommend that a period of three years, at least, be allowed to elapse before another exhibition is held. Regarding the exhibitors, we would add in conclusion that they were almost all from the town, and very few from the interior, and we think that a radius of twelve miles would circumscribe the majority of them. The district, therefore, may be said to have been not so well represented as might have been expected at this the second exhibition which has been held.

General remarks.

From J. GEOGHEGAN Esq., Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division,—(No. 2086, dated the 11th April 1866.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 655, dated the 21st ultimo, with enclosures, submitting the report on the Agricultural Exhibition held at Chittagong in January last, and in reply to request that you will be good enough to convey to the members of the committee of the exhibition the thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor for their services.

2. In regard to the proposal to postpone the next exhibition, I am desired to say that the Lieutenant-Governor is not disposed to agree with the committee in thinking that a period of even three years should pass before another exhibition is held in the division; nor does His Honor think that there is anything in the report to support such an opinion.

3. These exhibitions, I am to observe, cost very little, and certainly do so some good. The report of the Chittagong exhibition shews that rice and paddy were unexpectedly brought in such large quantities that the building intended for them could not contain them; that several very fair specimens of the local breed of cattle were exhibited; that the show of poultry was large and good, and that the natives of the town of Chittagong are taking some interest in improving the breed; that very fair specimens of wheat were exhibited, and that potatoes from Ramoo and arrowroot of the best quality were shewn; that a prize was given for tea grown in the district and well manufactured, and that the oranges exhibited were very fine.

4. It appears also that the exhibition was supported by the tea-planters of Chittagong, and that although the zemindars of the division neither subscribed money, nor sent articles for exhibition, nor, in short, took any interest in the matter, yet there was no lack of contributions, and the show was crowded by the poorer classes of natives, when admission was free.

5. It may be, as stated in the report, that the majority of the contributors live within a circle of 12 miles from the town of Chittagong; but the Lieutenant-Governor thinks it is a considerable object gained if a real interest has been excited even within these narrow limits, and the best hope of keeping alive and extending this interest lies in repeating the exhibition annually in some part of the division, and leading the people to regard it is an established institution.

6. It was not to be expected that an exhibition at Chittagong would be as successful as some of those held in other parts of Bengal; but it was quite a mistake, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, to say that Chittagong is not ripe for these exhibitions, and to use that as an argument for discontinuing them. His Honor observes that the more backward state of that part of the country seems rather to afford a stronger reason why agricultural industry should receive the encouragement which annual exhibitions certainly afford, while the increasing trade of the port and the extension of tea cultivation afford additional inducements to persevere in a course of obvious, though as yet not very wide, utility.

Mitford Hospital, Dacca.

From the Officiating Inspector-General of Police, Lower Provinces, to the Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 1462, dated the 20th March 1866.)

REFERRING to your office endorsement No. 598, dated 31st January last, I have the honor to report, for the information of Government, that the letter in the Dacca Prokash of the 21st January 1866, regarding the Mitford Hospital, having attracted my attention, I called for a report on the subject from the District Superintendent, and in reply received the accompanying copy of a letter from the Civil Surgeon in charge, to the Commissioner of Dacca, No. 4, dated 2nd instant.

2. In accordance with previous instructions conveyed in your No. 911 of 6th ultimo, the District Superintendent had been directed to construct a temporary hospital, or find accomodation in the lines for sick constables.

3. To this arrangement the Civil Surgeon demurs. As, however, the orders of Government are positive on the subject, the District Superintendent has been directed to carry them out without further delay.

Copy of a letter from the Superintendent of the Mitford Hospital, Dacca, to the Commissioner of the Dacca Division,—(No. 4, dated the 2nd March 1866.)

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge receipt of your memorandum No. 587T., dated 23rd ultimo, and to submit in reply the report following:—

I have attentively considered the translation of the article in the Dacca Prokash referred to and can see no reason to believe in its truth.

It is difficult to answer charges so vague and discursive, but I shall do my best to point out their inconclusiveness and absurdity.

It is asserted—

1st.—That "police officers" seem to keep aloof from the Mitford Hospital

2nd.—That the police cannot obtain the medicine ordered for them without payment to the hospital subordinates, and that they even have to dispose of their uniforms to satisfy this extortion.

3rd.—That when they have thus expended all, the Civil Surgeon advises their dismissal from the force.

4th.—That they must then pay Rupees 8 to obtain the discharge, and do so gladly that they may escape from the hospital.

5th.—That the Mitford Hospital, whose doors used to be crowded morning, noon, and night, is not now looked upon as a desirable place, or one from which much help might be obtained, and that the general public do not care to go to it for medical aid.

6th.—That four "doctors" and three dispensaries have in consequence been established in Dacca.

As to the first charge, I do not know what class may be intended by the term "police officers", and am therefore unable to answer clearly the allegation it contains.

It is, however, a fact that the constables try to avoid coming into hospital because, I believe, they know that they will by so doing be placed under a certain degree of restraint and be detected in case of malingering. When admitted it is the custom of these men to leave the hospital, owing to there being no proper guard, for the purpose of wandering in the bazaars and obtaining such articles of food as they may desire. I have endeavored to put a stop to this practice, and my having done so has no doubt tended to make the hospital unpopular with the "police officers."

With the charge of extortion I will first deal generally. I am perfectly aware that among the class termed "native doctors" there are some who will be guilty of extortionate conduct if they have opportunity. But the sick of the police being accommodated in the Mitford Hospital the native doctor has scarcely any opportunity, as he is under constant observation. Of the integrity of the Sub-Assistant Surgeon, Baboo Ram Chunder Sein, I can entertain no doubt. He resides at the hospital and is constantly in its wards and no system of extortion could go on in them without coming to his notice. I may remark that shortly after Ram Chunder Sein joined the hospital he detected the native doctor then attached to it in extortion and embezzlement and obtained his dismissal.

He was then made the object of an attack in the columns of the Dacca Prokash. His attention has been since constantly directed by me to the conduct of all the subordinates, but no instances of misbehaviour have been brought to light, and he informs me that he believes there is no ground for the charge of extortion now anonymously advanced against them. Further, the superintendence of the Mitford Hospital is a portion of my duty in which I take the highest interest. I visit it twice daily and am often for several hours at a time within its walls. Every patient has it in his power to complain to me of any wrong done to him, but no charge of extortion on the part of any of the subordinates has ever been brought before me.

The instances of this charge appear to me to be too absurd to require comment. The sale of uniforms, had it existed, must surely ere this have attracted the attention of the District Superintendent. The statement is, I have no doubt, founded on one case in which a man did dispose of a part of his uniform while in hospital. His having done so was brought to my notice by the Sub-Assistant Surgeon, and the fact was at once reported by me to the District Superintendent.

The Civil Surgeon, it is said, then advises their dismissal from the force. This implies that I am either an accomplice in the system of extortion or that I cannot see what is going on before my eyes. I have no reply to make.

The culminating absurdity of the charge is, however, contained in the third instance. It probably never occurred to the correspondent of the Dacca Prokash, that no man need pay three Rupees to get out of a hospital which he knows by experience he can quit at any time without hinderance. No written form of discharge is required, and men leaving hospital on recovery from sickness have only to report themselves.

As to the fifth charge, that the Mitford Hospital is not now resorted to by the people generally, I have only to state that during the year 1865 there were admitted 759 in-patients and that 7,705 out-patients were treated. Fifty-one capital operations were performed and 1,400 minor registered. A very considerable number of the latter escaping record, I believe, owing to some confusion in the hospital during the last three months from alterations and repairs going on in the reception-room. I have examined the returns of past years and I fully expected to find that the attendance of all classes of patients had much fallen off during 1866, owing to my having joined at the commencement of that year as a new comer and perfectly unknown in succession to a very popular Surgeon of wide-spread reputation. Any such falling off I was prepared to accept as an evidence of my not having acquired the confidence of the people, and I cannot, for a moment, admit that it would be a proof of misconduct on the part of my subordinates, of whom I must here say that I can only speak in praise.

Nevertheless, I find that the number of in-patients admitted in 1865 exceeded the average of the annual admissions since the opening of the hospital by 115. The number of out-patients and operations were about one-third less than the average of former years; but, as I have before observed, some diminution was to be expected, and I am personally well satisfied with the results of the year as they stand. I will only add further, as a proof of the estimation in which the hospital is held, that a man applied for admission this morning for the purpose of undergoing a surgical operation, who had come all the way from Nuddea, I asked him why he had not gone to the Medical College Hospital in Calcutta, and he replied that he had thought of doing so, but was told that the Mitford Hospital at Dacca was a better institution.

I believe there is good reason to believe that the Mitford Hospital will continue to hold the high reputation it has acquired if its popularity be not hindered by systematic misrepresentation on the part of a press, which appears to me to be too ready to publish anonymous slander and falsehood.

The sixth statement, that "four doctors" and three dispensaries have been established in Dacca, appears to me to be entirely irrelevant. It proves not the inefficiency of the Mitford Hospital, but the success with which the system of medical education in India has been attended. There are, I believe, in Dacca several pupils of the Medical College who have established themselves in practice without having completed their course of education, or taken out a license to practise, which is, not, I believe, even legally necessary. I have seen prescriptions in English written by them, and I was not long ago called to a case on which one of them was attending, armed with a stethoscope, and evidently possessed of a certain amount of medical information. I do not interfere with these men by under-selling them, and I believe they supply a want among the people which the Civil Surgeon cannot supply except on terms derogatory to his position. They will doubtless increase throughout India till they form what is much to be desired a class of native practitioners superior in knowledge to the Kobrajes and Hakeems who now destroy their hecatombs.

The Editor's opinion, that there should be a separate hospital for the police, is a foolish one and may be easily disposed of. It is sufficient to say that a separate hospital could not be established without considerable expense and that it would lead to promote the very evil which is now deprecated. In a separate hospital the native doctor would be less under supervision than he is at present, and therefore more able to exercise a power of extortion.

I have nothing more to say concerning the charges of the Dacca Prokash, but I am anxious that measures should be taken to relieve my subordinates from the annoyance of future attacks. To this end I would suggest that the police hospital should be properly guarded, and be regularly visited twice a week by an officer instructed to see that the men obey orders and make known at once any complaints they have to advance against the subordinates.

As to the general management of the hospital, I solicit that you will be good enough to obtain the sanction of Government to the appointment on the committee of some native gentlemen of influence who may be periodically requested to inspect the hospital and examine the patients as to the treatment they receive. These measures being taken, I believe there will be no longer any room for the entertainment of charges such as those of which, I trust, I have now satisfactorily disposed.

From the Hon'ble A. Eden, Secretary to the Government of Bengal, to the Officiating Inspector-General of Police, Lower Provinces,—(No. 2027, dated the 7th April 1866.)

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 1462, dated the 20th ultimo, forwarding a report from Dr. Beatson regarding the Mitford Hospital at Dacca, and to state that the Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied that the allegations contained in the Dacca Prokash reflecting on that institution are not in any way founded on fact, and that the medical staff attached to it has the entire confidence of Government, as it apparently has that of the public.

Report of the Cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling during the Month of February 1866.

From T. Anderson, Esq., M. D., Superintendent, Botanical Gardens, and in charge of Cinchona cultivation in Bengal, to the Officiating Junior Secretary to the Government of Bengal,—(No. 40, dated the 18th April 1866)

I have the honor to forward the report on the cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling for the month of February 1866.

Report for the month of February 1866.

The progress of the cultivation of Cinchonæ at Darjeeling continues to be satisfactory. Eight thousand and nine hundred (8,900) cuttings were made in February, and several thousands seeds of C. Officinalis received from Ceylon germinated. These seedlings are too small yet to be included in the number of plants in the Nurseries. The total number of plants and cuttings on the 1st March was 1,46,908. The distribution of these in the open air and nursery beds remains the same as last month.

2. During the month 780 plants of Cinchonæ were distributed; the applicants receiving them were Dr. Jameson, Botanical Gardens, North-Western Provinces, Saharunpore; Scottish Assam Tea Company, and Dr. Fraser, Her Majesty's 88th Regiment, for a Cinchona plantation at Kangra.

3. The weather during February was unusually inclement, the cold having been greater than in January. About the middle of the month a snow-storm occurred over a great part of the Himalaya; at Darjeeling it was accompanied by severe frost. The fall of snow did not extend even to the upper plantations, but much hail followed by rain fell at the upper plantations, and on the 13th the Thermometer at Plantation No. 1 stood at 30°. The amount of rain during the month was 3·5 inches.

4. Growth commenced at the two lower plantations about the 20th of the month, but up to the end of the month no signs of the return of spring were noticed above 4,000 feet.

If the Commissioner disagree with the Canal Officer, the whole case shall be referred to the final decision of the Local Government.

Procedure where Collector is himself Canal Officer.

13. Where the Collector is himself the Canal Officer, he shall forward to the Commissioner of the Division all petitions presented under Section 6, who shall then proceed in the same manner, and with the same powers, as if he were a Collector acting under Section 6; and in every such case Sections 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11 shall be read as if for the word "Collecter" the words "Commissioner of the Division" were substituted.

Procedure after thirty days from the giving of notice under Section 5.

14. At the expiration of thirty days from the giving of the notice mentioned in Section 5, if under the provisions hereinbefore contained it shall have been determined that the proposed water-course is to be formed, the Canal Officer shall enter upon the intervening lands and mark out the limits of the proposed water-course; and thereupon the Collector shall adjust the amount to be given as purchase-money, rent, and revenue or any of them for the right and as compensation for the injury respectively mentioned in Section 2.
